CROWD OF 15,000 OUT TO HONOR COMPANY M

Soldiers March for a Mile Between Ranks of Cheering Citizens—Huge Crowds at Armory and Ferry to See the Company Depart for Camp Whitman With Ranks Recruited to Full War Strength.

Amid a rousing send-off in which 15,000 people joined Company M left Kingston today bound for the concentration camp at Green Haven and, eventually, "God Knows Where," to quote an officer high in the Federal army. Good health and good spirits of the guardsmen, with the enthusiasm of the crowd and the bright sunny morning, combined to create an atmosphere most favorable to a patriotic expression that occasioned even for the Colonial City whose traditions include the most widespread responses to the call of country and of flag.

"We're ready!" was Captain Meagher's only comment and the condition of the men bore out that statement. Save for equipment to be supplied at Camp Whitman, the recruits are in fine shape. From daybreak this morning to the time of final departure of the men shortly before 9 o'clock, Kingston resembled a military center in Meagher, Lieutenants Dittus and Cashin, Major Chandler, the Tenth Regiment and a lot of other officers and the city of Kingston as well. In fact such was the enthusiasm of the boys lined up on the armory floor that they would beyond doubt have cheered old Carranza himself if anybody had proposed it—and if he showed no indications of backing down.

After cheering some more and a little singing, the soldiers picked up their kits from the floor and Company M was on its way to "God Knows Where."

Happy Over Prospect.

The big front doors of the armory were flung open and out the soldiers marched, a happy, smiling line of men careless of consequences and anxious for service after being cooped up for more than ten days in the Broadway building which has not the most congenial sleeping quarters although these may be like a summer resort compared to what the company gets into before it gets back.

And the crowd caught the infection of the smiles, the women smiling through their tears and the grown-ups, when something wasn't sticking in their throats, mingling their cheers with the shrill shouts of the youngsters.

Great Crowds in Line.

It was great crowd. Maybe the memories of the men of '61 and '98 are out of whack with the times but veterans of both experiences said frankly that there was a spirit noticeable in the send-off given the boys of Company M this morning that compared most favorably with all patriotic exhibitions of past years. For they are boys, these men of Company M, and their youth brought home anew the force of the fact that it was the Civil War that was fought by boys, mere striplings in most cases. But for a high class lot of soldiers, the members of Company M, the old members and the recruits gained since the Mexican trouble are a high class lot of men, indeed, and the pride and joy of their officers as was made plain by the bearing of the latter.

The crowd challenged attention, too, made up largely of women, children and here and there sprinklings of men. From the armory to the city hall the lane of humanity spread along each side of Broadway a half dozen deep, pushing and crowding in the effort to get a last look at Company M marching away.

WATCHFUL WAITING AGAIN THE ATTITUDE

Although Ultimatum Has Been Completed With Carranza's Reply to Note on U. S. Army Withdrawal is Not Received.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, June 29.—The Mexican situation still was one of anxious watchful waiting today. Release of the imprisoned troops of the 10th Cavalry had removed only the immediate incentive for war. The attitude of Carranza toward all things American, and especially toward the right of this government to protect its own territory even to the extent of maintaining an army south of the border, still was to be learned. While many officials were hopeful that, having made a start and reversed himself in the case of the Carrizal captives, Carranza might now be willing to make the other concessions to meet the views of the United States, there was no halting of the preparations for war. The National Guard were being sent forward as rapidly as possible and a continuous string of freight cars were converging upon the border depots carrying every kind of supply needed by the army in the field.

Release of the Carrizal prisoners, however, has ended the immediate necessity for President Wilson appearing before congress. It was said at the White House early today that he will now await the complete reply of Carranza to his ultimatum demanding a statement of the future attitude of the Mexicans toward the Pershing punitive expedition before asking congress for its co-operation. And if that reply is even "reasonably satisfactory" the general Mexican situation will continue to be handled through the executive department, leaving the report to the legislative branch until definite action one way or the other is secured.

Meanwhile the Latin-American diplomats were continuing their efforts to prevent war. They have scored a notable victory in the Carranza decision to release the prisoners. When it is considered that a sharp defiant reply to American demands amounting in effect to an invitation to the United States "to come and take, them" had been prepared by Carranza to the American ultimatum, with copies of it furnished to the Latin-American diplomatic representatives on Tuesday the greatness of the victory in "persuading" General Carranza to reconsider and then reverse his attitude is best known. Dr. Don Ignacio Calderon, the Bolivian minister who has been the active factor in all of these negotiations, was directly responsible for this victory, which officials here were hopeful is only the first of the various steps away from the war.

Dr. Calderon expected again to talk matters over with Secretary Lansing, probably today, to find out whether it will not now be possible to suggest a plan of agreement between the two countries which would provide for a "neutral zone" along the border to be policed by the Americans to prevent any further raids. In Mexico City the pressure upon General Carranza was being continued and nothing was being left undone which might aid in bringing the relations between the two countries into such position that a readjustment will be possible. That the president believes the immediate danger passed was shown by the announcement that he would keep his engagement to deliver an address in Independence Hall, Philadelphia, this afternoon.

CASEMENT IS SENTENCED TO DIE

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

London, June 29.—Sir Roger Case-ment was today found guilty of high treason in the high court of justice. The jury was out only fifteen minutes.

Immediately after the verdict was returned Case-ment was sentenced to death by Baron Reading, the lord chief justice.

As the verdict was announced Case-ment stood up bravely under the blow. He had evidently entertained little hope from the beginning of the trial.

There were two lines of defense; first, that the offense, if any, was committed outside the realm of England, and second, that Case-ment did not plot to aid the enemies of England but to help the Irish people to Freedom.

SEVENTY-FIRST IN RAILWAY ACCIDENT

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Terre Haute, Ind., June 29.—The first wreck of mobilization occurred here today when a switch engine side swiped the edge of the train carrying New York troops to the border. Sergeant Chrystal of Company F, 71st New York regiment, was slightly injured and several other men of the company were shaken up. Many of the troops jumped to save themselves.

A caboose on the rear end was turned over and the rear passenger coach badly shaken up. A wrecker was rushed to the scene.

OFFICIAL REPORT FROM GEN. FUNSTON

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, June 29.—The first official report to reach the war department regarding the release of the Carrizal prisoners came from General Funston today in the overnight dispatches. It confirmed the press dispatches and was as follows: "General Bell notifies me that Consul Carcia has telephoned him that General Trevino is sending all of the prisoners taken at Carrizal to Juarez and that they will be turned over to me tomorrow (Thursday)."

"FUNSTON."

Joint Sunday School Excursion.

The Sunday schools of Trinity and Clinton Avenue M. E. Churches will run a joint excursion to Bear Mountain Park and West Point on Wednesday, July 12, by steamer Mary Lowell. Bear Mountain Park is the most attractive resort along the Hudson river. It is owned and operated by the state. Its many attractions are free to the public and include boats on a beautiful lake, free swings, picnic tables, etc. After a stay of about four and one-half hours at Bear Mountain the boat will leave for West Point where an opportunity will be given to witness the dress parade of cadets. Immediately after the parade the boat will leave West Point, arriving home at an early hour.

CARRANZA RELEASES U. S. ARMY PRISONERS

Orders Troops Captured at Carrizal Sent to Juarez to be Turned Over to the U. S.—Order Came as a Surprise at Last Minute.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

El Paso, Tex., June 29.—The progress of a jerking, swaying train rattling over the Mexican Central Railway from Chihuahua City to Juarez today halted the armies that had been prepared for bloody relentless battle. On the train, according to official Mexican dispatches from Mexico City and Chihuahua City were the 23 American soldiers ordered released from a Mexican prison in compliance with a demand from the United States government.

They were the troops of the 10th Cavalry taken in the battle at Carrizal, accompanied by Lemuel Spillsbury, the scout and interpreter. Mexican officials in Juarez announced that the Americans were traveling under the protection of an armed guard and that they would be delivered to General George Bell, Jr., American commander at El Paso.

No greater surprise has ever stirred the border than the announcement by the Mexicans that General Carranza had decided to free the American soldiers. This came at a moment when both Generals Bell and Pershing, leader of the American punitive expedition sent to capture Francisco Villa, were prepared to advance to close in on several thousand Carranzista troops concentrated in the region of Villa Ahumada.

The last day of June was to have been the last day of grace for the Mexicans. By that time, unless Carranza yielded, the troops at El Paso were to advance into Juarez, under cover of a bombardment if necessary, and pave the way for an advance southward.

Whether release of the American prisoners would long delay warfare was a question that puzzled deep students of the Mexican situation today. Only developments of the next few hours can tell. The course followed at Mexico City has been a baffling one. Government officials announced that Carranza would reject all mediation proffers. He did the contrary. Mexican officials attached to the foreign office said that Carranza would refuse to release the Carrizal prisoners. Then comes the announcement that he had done the contrary.

This theory was advanced here today and was generally accepted among those in close touch with the situation across the border.

Carranza is striving to secure another conference at which he will again demand the removal of American troops from Mexico.

In this connection it was reported that General Bertani and General Gabriel Gaviro were accompanying the American prisoners to the border to request another conference. Inquiry developed the fact that American officers here would be unwilling to enter into another fruitless, lengthy conference such as that held by Generals Obregon, Scott and Funston.

The American leaders have been preparing for action, not words. They know that the Washington government is determined to keep the American forces in Mexico.

News that Carranza had ordered the American soldiers' release came as a greater surprise for the reason that never had the Mexicans appeared more confident. The Carranzista commanders had filled their troops with the idea that they could whip the hated "gringos." From all parts of Mexico had come defiant messages to the border. The Mexican commanders threatened to attack any American troops that approached.

In Mexico City, Minister of War Obregon backed up the action taken at Carrizal. All indications pointed to a speedy rupture of relations and war.

However, there are other issues yet to be decided. The American troops are still held in readiness. Early today General Francisco Gonzales, commandant of the Carranza forces, and Andreas Garcia, the Mexican consul who elected to live on the other side of the Rio Grande, went to the dusty old railway station at Juarez to await the arrival of the train bringing the American prisoners from Chihuahua City. They were accompanied by an escort of troops selected to guard the Americans through Juarez to the international bridge.

The Mexican leaders, were notified that the train would be considerably late, but that it had passed Moctezuma and Villa Ahumada, within a few miles of the point where the Americans were captured.

Vincent Will Filed.

The will of Frank Vincent, the celebrated scientist and explorer, who died at Woodstock on June 20, was filed for probate in the surrogate's court of New York county on Monday. The entire estate, the value of which is unknown, is given to the widow, Mrs. Harriet Stillman Vincent, who is also bequeathed a certificate of patronage awarded to Mr. Vincent by the Metropolitan Museum of Art for presenting the Museum with a collection of Indo-Chinese antiquities.

BUFFALO TROOPS AT CAMP WHITMAN

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Camp Whitman, June 29.—The 65th Regiment from Buffalo, commanded by Col. Babcock, arrived here in two sections from Buffalo this morning and is now making camp south of the 22nd.

The Tenth Regiment is on the way and will arrive about noon. Brigadier General Eddy is expected at noon to take charge of the camp.

HOW BUBOLZ'S DUCKS MET DEATH

Mr. Britkowsky Chased Them So Hard They Died of Exhaustion—Ducks Were in His Garden—Each Man Wanted Other Arrested.

Michael Bubolz is the owner of a fine garden in North Rondout and also some high grade ducks. His neighbor, Mr. Britkowsky, who lives in the same house, also has a fine garden, but no ducks. Wednesday afternoon three of Mr. Bubolz's ducks wandered over into the Britkowsky garden, and Mr. Britkowsky instead of adopting the administration's "watchful waiting" policy, had other tactics in mind, and executed a counter attack on the three ducks. In fact Mr. Britkowsky chased the ducks so hard and far, that they dropped from exhaustion and died.

At least that is the story told to Recorder Lang this morning when Mr. Bubolz and Mr. Britkowsky each paid a personal visit to the city hall to see Recorder Lang about securing a warrant for the other's arrest. Mr. Britkowsky was also reinforced by the landlady, who wanted the recorder to give orders ejecting Mr. Bubolz from the landlady's property.

Mr. Bubolz said he intended to move anyway.

After hearing both tales the recorder advised the families to go home and try and live in peace and bury the hatchet as it would be but a matter of a few days when Mr. Bubolz would move away to another neighborhood.

Mr. Bubolz wanted to know how he was going to get pay for his three dead ducks, and was advised that was a matter to be tried out in city court.

The Fourth at Woodstock.

The various organizations at Woodstock are to combine in the celebration of Independence Day. The Mechanics and the Boy Scouts are to lead the school boys in a military drill and parade at one o'clock in the afternoon. This is to be followed by a two mile running race to Bearsville, and other races and games. There will be a baseball match on the ball grounds. The Mt. Marion Band is to furnish music on the church green between 11:30 a. m. and 9:30 p. m. There is to be a patriotic address by Rev. W. H. Seiple. The ladies of the Reformed Church will conduct a fair and sale of refreshments all day, and will serve dinner and supper to the crowd. There will be a display of fireworks in the evening.

Fell From Charchian Building.

While climbing about the Charchian factory building on Cornell street Tuesday evening, George Schoonmaker, aged 15, fell two stories and suffered a fracture of the upper bone of his left arm. An X-ray examination was made by Drs. Ingalls and Norwood to determine the extent of the break. Had not Schoonmaker landed in a pile of sand the consequences of his fall might have been more serious. He was taken to his home at 120 Downs street.

Albany Troops Left Early.

By Telegraph to The Freeman. Albany, June 29.—With chimes ringing and half of the city on the street at 6:30 this morning, the remaining four companies of the Tenth Infantry left Albany today for Peekskill. The troops were escorted by a large number of prominent citizens, headed by Mayor Joseph W. Stevens. Patriotic citizens presented a purse of $2,000 to the major of the battalion, while gifts aggregating over $3,000 will go to the families left behind.

Another Kingston Boy in Army.

Harry Legg, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Legg of No. 234 Smith avenue, has enlisted with the Seventh Regiment of New York city. He was employed with the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, but when the present crisis arose he dropped his work and hurried to the armory and enlisted.

MEN SHIELDED IN CITY VICE RAIDS

Poughkeepsie Women Protest at Action of Police—Publication of One Woman's Name Led Daughter to Leave City For Shame of Exposure.

Poughkeepsie women are making a spirited protest because the police in making raids on certain alleged disorderly hotels in that city gave out the names of the women taken but withheld the names of 59 "gentlemen" who were permitted to go. Because of the publication of the name of one of the women in the affair, her daughter who is a young woman of refinement and a member of the Y. W. C. A., was so humiliated that she has disappeared and all efforts to locate her have failed.

Miss Mary Hinkley, president of the Women's League for Civic Education, who led the discussion, pointed out as ridiculous the excuse she said was offered by the district attorney shielding the men, "that many of the latter were respectable and in danger of losing their positions." When some one brought up the argument that the families of the men must be protected, it was asked, "What of the families of the women; what of the case that has just come to light?"

"We are disgusted at this periodic revelation," Miss Mary Hinkley said. "We must clean up the dirt once for all and be thoroughly assured that after one case has been brought to light, no other case will be found again and the endless tragedy repeated over and over."

ST. REMY.

St. Remy, June 29.—The result of the strawberry festival last Thursday night was $13.00. This will be followed by ice cream socials every two weeks during the summer months.

A delegation from the local union was present at the Christian Endeavor last Sunday evening and it was a very interesting meeting. Miss Kittie Gumaer had charge of the meeting and Miss Overbaugh assisted.

Mrs. Almira York spent Sunday with her sister, Mrs. Kathryn Sutton.

Miss Lena Eckert and friend of Rifton called on Mrs. Schuyler Deyo on Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Mary Halstead of Kingston was the guest of Mrs. S. Van Vliet on Sunday.

Edna Rothenberger celebrated her birthday last Monday. Her father presented her with a lawn swing.

Miss Sarah Van Aken, president of the Junior Christian Endeavor, gave the children an outing to Kingston Point last Wednesday. Although they were compelled to return home in the rain, they all reported a fine time. A number of friends went along with them.

Mrs. S. Van Vliet has had a fine concrete walk laid around the house.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Stokes of Stamford are guests of Mrs. E. M. Durham and Mrs. D. Carney.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Krom and sister called at Isaac Freer's on Monday afternoon.

Mrs. Emma Haines and Mrs. Henry Rayner were guests of Mrs. S. G. Haines last Friday.

Miss Eva Lyons is convalescent.

The leader of the Christian Endeavor next Sunday evening will be David Ackerman. Topic, "How to Make Ours an Ideal Nation." 1 Pet. 2:1-10.

PALENTOWN.

Palentown, June 29.—The old fashioned home gathering which was held at George Kirk's up at the Valley View farm last Friday evening, was well attended. All enjoyed themselves. Dancing and other games were enjoyed. Ice cream and cake were served. Much kindness was shown to make it an agreeable affair.

Mrs. H. Traver has returned home after spending from Sunday until Thursday with relatives in Krumville.

Miss Phoebe Dymond is spending some time with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Dymond, in this place.

Mrs. William Grey is spending some time in Kingston with her sister, Mrs. L. Lyons.

Freeman Roosa, who has been laid up with the rheumatism for some time, is about the same.

Miss Nellie Markle from Acorn Hill called on her grandparents in this place Saturday last.

Chester Pallen expects to leave for Greene county in a few days where he has employment for the summer season.

Everett Brennen has begun his new barn he is going to build. Roy Van Valkenburg is doing the carpenter work.

Edward Secor from Ashokan was a visitor at William Dymond's Sunday last; also their son, William, from Greene county.

Miss Maud Grey spent Saturday afternoon with Miss Grace Traver, her schoolmate.

John H. Traver was one of the eighty-eight that took chauffeur examination at the city hall in Kingston June 29.

KERHONKSON.

Kerhonkson, June 28.—The Kerhonkson celebration of the Fourth of July will be held on the M. E. Church grounds. There will be a street parade of automobiles and wagons at 3 o'clock and speaking on the grounds at 2:30 p. m. Ice cream, candies and soft drinks will be for sale. A splendid supper will be served by the ladies from 5 to 7 o'clock. The Kerhonkson orchestra will furnish the music for the afternoon and evening and a home talent entertainment will be given in the church at 8 o'clock and fireworks will be given in the evening.

OUR DAILY PATTERN.

A Charming Gown.

Waist 1658—Skirt 1659. Composed of Ladies' Waist Pattern, 1658, and Ladies' Skirt Pattern, 1659.

As here illustrated, white linen embroidered in self color was used. The waist is smart and up-to-date, with the surplice vest portions. The skirt may be finished with or without the drapery. Serge, jersey, cloth, taffeta, voile, batiste, crepe, gingham, tub silk, gabardine and nun's veiling are all nice for this style.

The waist pattern is cut in 6 sizes: 34, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44 inches bust measure. The skirt is cut 6 sizes: 22, 24, 26, 28, 30 and 32 inches waist measure. It requires 7 1/2 yards of 44 inch material for the entire gown for a 36 inch size.

This illustration calls for TWO separate patterns, which will be mailed to any address on receipt of ten cents FOR EACH pattern, in silver or stamps, by The Freeman Pattern Department. Be sure to state size wanted.

The KITCHEN CABINET

Ordinary men live among marvels and feel nothing new about them. Then comes an independent mind which sees; and it surprises us to find how service we have been to habit and opinion, how blind to what we also might have been, had we used our eyes.—G. H. Lewis.

HOT BREADS.

A half cupful of cooked cereal, rice or hominy may be added to almost any gem or muffin recipe to its improvement. A hot muffin is always welcome and a variety also.

Nut Muffins.—Mix a cupful of grated crumbs, two egg yolks, a half cupful of milk, two tablespoonfuls of chopped nuts and a fourth of a teaspoonful of salt; beat in a tablespoonful of softened butter and fold in the stiffly beaten whites the last thing. Bake 15 minutes in gem pans in a moderate oven.

Graham Muffins.—Beat an egg light, add a cupful of milk, a cupful and a half of graham flour and a half cupful of flour, beat well and add a teaspoonful each of butter and lard and another fourth of a cupful of milk. Bake in muffin pans in a moderately hot oven about twenty minutes.

Fruit Gems.—Take a cupful of whole-wheat flour and a half cupful of cornmeal; add a cupful of mixed fruits, currants and raisins or dates. Beat two egg yolks and add with a cupful and a half of milk, lastly fold in the stiffly beaten whites. Bake 20 minutes or more.

Hominy Pone.—Take a cupful of boiled hominy, a half cupful of cornmeal, butter the size of an egg, a teaspoonful of salt, well mixed while hot. Cool and add a cupful of milk, two eggs beaten well. Bake in muffin pans or in a thin sheet in a very quick oven.

Breakfast Muffins.—Take a pint of flour, a tablespoonful of sugar, a half teaspoonful of salt, two teaspoonfuls of baking powder, all sifted well together; add a beaten egg, and a cupful of milk, stir in two tablespoonfuls of softened butter; beat well and bake in muffin pans 20 minutes.

Popovers.—Take a pint each of flour and milk, two eggs, a half teaspoonful of salt. Beat the eggs until very thick, add milk and flour alternately until it is as smooth as cream. Bake in a moderate oven 40 minutes. Do not open the oven for the first half hour. If put into deep granite cups it makes a very light cake.

FIRST CLASS DAY AT HIGH SCHOOL

The first class day exercises, those of the K. H. S. Class of 1916, to be held in the new high school were of unusual excellence, and enjoyable for all present, whether interested in particular members of the class or not. When the curtains were drawn the picture was a most pleasing one, with the girls in their charming gowns, the many youth, the excellent school orchestra, and as a background two large American flags, the best possible background just now. And the exercises proved as attractive as the group on the stage. Throughout the program, the orchestra, composed of some ten members of the high school, rendered exceedingly pleasant music, playing in good tone and tune, with a good ensemble and rhythmically. The Kingston Symphony Society will find excellent material to recruit its war-depleted ranks, in the high school orchestra.

Sherman V. Hasbrouck in his President's Address, expressed for the class of 1916, their appreciation of what the citizens of Kingston had done for its student body in erecting and equipping the most magnificent high school in the Hudson Valley. He also spoke in warm praise of the faculty, and thanked the many members of the Board of Education who attended the baccalaureate address. Then welcoming the large audience, Mr. Hasbrouck introduced George W. Green as the Class Orator.

Mr. Green took as his subject, "True Americanism," which he described as putting into action the country's ideals and that against all opposition. The young orator seriously considered the times, and bespoke the heartfelt, soul deep purpose of all to show their patriotism for the country which converts the peoples of many countries into the people of one country; the flag of many countries into the flag of one country, the stars and stripes. He warned against emulating European civilization so called, and against those who coming from abroad remained in this country, foreign, and asked for good Americanism as the one great thing; forgetting what divides and remembering and using what unites. Through wisdom, peace and liberty, America must prove true to the world task before her.

Miss Ida Lazarus, the Class Elocutionist, gave a remarkably realistic, dramatic and inspiring rendition of a composition entitled "The Story of the Boy." The boy's lack of understanding of his father's absence; that after's sudden appearance and strange and terrible enforcing of the lesson of the two words, "Lies" and "Money," and especially his almost ever demand that the boy should ever lie; then the childish difficulty of deciding between the lie and what would buy for him, and the truth and what he would lose, including anger to his father, were vividly portrayed. The audience was really enthralled, as Miss Lazarus pictured the boy telling the truth, taking the consequences like a little man and losing the story with the little fellow's appeal to both the departing mother and agonized mother, "Was I a liar?"

To Joseph Hazen was given the honor of addressing the faculty, to whom he was most complimentary and grateful. The speaker cleverly depicted the class as starting on a voyage with several pilots instead of a customary one; stopping at many ports; first that of Sophomore land, that of the "Wise Fools," then at "Junior Point," a spot having been at Cape of Good Hope and Cape Horn beaten a mile; arriving, finally, in spite of the songs of the rens, at their final port of graduation.

Miss Minerva Van Gaasbeck, the class Historian, told interestingly of mishaps and mishaps of the 1916 year through the experiences of freshmen verdancy; Sophomore penning, Junior dignity and Senior diminution. Nor were the social activities the literary efforts, or the strophic achievements overlooked.

Calvin D. Winne, in spite of his embarrassment, did his best to aid the Juniors in the paths of rectitude, through sage advice, and the recital of lessons of wisdom drawn from the lives and history of the Seniors. The "advice" was full of fun and some earnestness, and was responded to by Edward E. Stelle, who gave the Junior Reply. In this reply, the speaker called attention, cleverly to the undue modesty of the Seniors in failing to mention their proportionate share in the glories of athletic and literary efforts, and apologetically mentioned the impudence of the Juniors in daring to become rivals of the Seniors. In more serious vein, Mr. Stelle expressed appreciation of the rivalry that had had to be lived down by this Senior Class; their lack of precedent, and the high standard which they had set for K. H. S. and which the Juniors fully intended to maintain, if not excel.

Miss Mary E. Donovan, the Class Poet, recited with fine appreciation of the poem, "Opportunity," which like all of the numbers on the program was received with cordial applause. The Class Prophecy as given by Ruth Humphrey, was both very clever and unique. Sitting at a table with a great glass of destiny before her she read for each classmate a fitting future, again and again calling forth applause by the wit of her forecastings.

Samuel Goldwasser, the Class Critic, had no easy task, but assumed his duties impartially, evidently accepting the word critic in its original meaning of "one who separates, decides, judges," and he accomplished his task admirably. Every member of the class, "every victim" was weighed in the scales, and where found wanting in one scale, the other was found to be overweighted, compliments and good natured "knocks" being handed out impartially.

Of course the Class Legacy was looked forward to eagerly, and was more than ordinarily well bequeathed by Miss Jane Schnitzler, who in charming manner not only bequeathed but presented each classmate with a humorously appropriate bequest. The delightful evening was brought to a close with the singing of the Class Song, written by R. G. T., and which was as follows:

Class Song.
Alma Mater, new protectress,
Guardian of our allied clans,
Winged time bids us be going
As the hour glass drops its sands.

We, the first to leave thine altars,
We, the first to bear thy name,
Pioneers will be in blazing
Paths unto thy endless fame.

Strong the tie that e'er shall bind us,
Classmates of dear K. H. S.
Ne'er be pierced our mystic circle,
Ne'er shall we fail friendship's test.

Honor we thy name, Oh, Kingston,
Though we wander from thy halls;
Know thou as we sadly leave thee
That we will e'er heed thy calls.

Youth speeds far too swiftly from us,
Youth with all his wondrous dreams,
We shall be old on the morrow,
Gone, the men of all thy teams.

Yet when Father Time has won us,
We'll think of the days gone by,
When we all were here together,
In the halls of Kingston High.

—R. G. T., '16.

MEXICAN REPORT ON CARRIZAL BATTLE

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Mexico City, June 28, via El Paso, Tex., June 29.—In reply to Chief Executive Carranza's request for a full report on the Carrizal battle, General Jacinto B. Trevino has transmitted from Chihuahua City a statement which he says was sworn to by Lemuel H. Spillsbury, the civilian interpreter who accompanied the American forces to Carrizal. In this statement, which was made public today, Spillsbury holds the American soldiers responsible for the conflict, that General Gomez, the Mexican commander, was courteous in his warnings to the Tenth Cavalry and that Captain Charles T. Boyd thought the Mexicans were bluffing.

Following is the full text of Spillsbury's statement as sent by General Trevino:

"My name is Lemuel H. Spillsbury and I have been interpreter for General Pershing since the troops entered Mexico. I was without employment and stone broke, through no work going on around Pearson, near which place I live.

"I speak good Spanish, having been raised here. I left Casas Grandes Sunday morning as interpreter for Captain Boyd. There were eighty-seven all told, being 41 of C Troop and 46 of K Troop. Captain Morey and Lieut. Adair were with the men, all of the Tenth Cavalry.

"Captain Boyd sent into Carrizal a messenger yesterday morning to the jefe politico saying he was on a peaceful mission and asking permission to pass through Villa Ahumada and for him to advise the military authorities.

"General Gomez sent out Lieut. Col. Rivas and an escort of eighty men to tell us that he had orders to stop us there until he heard further. "Captain Boyd said he had heard of a robbery in Santo Domingo and the presence of bandits there and he wanted to run them down. He wanted also to recapture a deserter who had got away.

"Lieut. Col. Rivas replied that there were no bandits in that place and that they would have to pass over their dead bodies.

"After further talk he retired back to the town and General Gomez sent a note asking the Americans to come into town for a conference.

"Captain Boyd did not like the idea and said so, whereupon General Gomez called personally and repeated his orders that they could not pass through. He said that his instructions from General Trevino that if Americans moved east, west or south of their old positions they were to be attacked; General Pershing must know this and that the captain ought to know it.

"Captain Boyd admitted he was aware of the orders, but his own orders were to get through Villa Ahumada and he had to obey.

"General Gomez repeated his refusal and said that if the Americans advanced he would at once fire on them. Captain Boyd then said 'All right,' but I think he thought that General Gomez was only trying to comply with his orders from his superior and would not really attack.

"General Gomez had retired to his men, who were lined up on the outside of the town, when Captain Boyd gave the order to advance. Shortly after the firing commenced and our men started to drop, Captain Boyd and Lieut. Adair were killed and Captain Morey was wounded in the shoulder, but I think he got away.

"The ten men who were holding our horses fled with the lot and we were surrounded and had to surrender. Saw the dead bodies of Boyd and Adair, also the bodies of 12 negroes, although there might have been more. I do not know how many Mexicans were killed besides General Gomez.

"I consider that the entire fault of the fight belongs to the Americans as General Gomez was very courteous in his insistence that we retire and frequently pointed out that he must be loyal to his superior's orders and fire on them if they persisted to advance. But as I said before, Captain Boyd seemed to think they were only bluffing and seemed to think he could force a passage in any case.

"I have been trying to get away from my employment for some time because I only accepted work with General Pershing to help catch Villa, if possible, and as soon as I saw that the Americans were likely to cause war with Mexico I tried repeatedly to get away, because I have many more Mexican friends than American ones. But General Pershing would not let me go and I was afraid to try to escape and return to my people's ranch near Casas Grandes through fear that they might punish me.

In the case of Millie S. Whitney against James A. White, Sr., involving the location of a line fence, an order was granted appointing Judge N. Frank O'Reilly referee to take oral testimony. John W. Eckert appeared for the plaintiff and Brininger & Canfield for the defendant.

WEST SAUGERTIES.
West Saugerties, June 29.—The boarding houses are open and all ready for the summer boarders, of whom there are a few here already.

The Christian Endeavor social and entertainment held in Blue Mountain Church last Wednesday evening was a success in all respects.

Mr. McDermott gave the school children a picnic on Friday before leaving them. Everyone was invited and, of course, there was a goodly attendance.

Eleanor Korb, who has been staying at Mountain Stream House, proprietor, Mrs. Renner, has returned to her home.

John Cole and family and sister, Emily, spent Saturday night and Sunday with their parents, S. P. Cole and wife.

Vernon Engleman is spending the summer with F. Mott and wife, his grandparents.

Our minister, Mr. Norris, is a very energetic young man. He is making plans for keeping the young people, and older ones, too, busy through the summer. We wish him all success.

S. P. Cole returned to the village of Saugerties after a few weeks' stay in West Saugerties.

Mrs. Brown and children spent a couple of days at their residence here the first of the week.

Mrs. Milton Hommel and Mrs. Joshua Snyder spent Monday afternoon at the home of Richard Bovee in Blue Mountain. Her daughter, Mrs. James Hommel, of Saugerties, was a guest there also.

Miss Cecelia Herzog of Weehawken and a niece are guests of her sister, Mrs. Milton Hommel.

The young people of our Christian Endeavor Society are preparing for an entertainment on the 18th of July. This place has been noted for good entertainments, so we hope this one will keep up the good opinion.

George Davis of Cementon spent Sunday with his wife and her father, Charles Hommel.

MEN SHIELDED IN CITY VICE RAIDS

Poughkeepsie Women Protest at Action of Police—Publication of One Woman's Name Led Daughter to Leave City For Shame of Exposure.

Poughkeepsie women are making a spirited protest because the police in making raids on certain alleged disorderly hotels in that city gave out the names of the women taken but withheld the names of 50 "gentlemen" who were permitted to go. Because of the publication of the name of one of the women in the affair, her daughter who is a young woman of refinement and a member of the Y. W. C. A., was so humiliated that she has disappeared and all efforts to locate her have failed.

Miss Mary Hinkley, president of the Women's League for Civic Education, who led the discussion, pointed out as ridiculous the excuse she said was offered by the district attorney shielding the men, "that many of the latter were respectable and in danger of losing their positions." When some one brought up the argument that the families of the men must be protected, it was asked, "What of the families of the women? What of the case that has just come to light?"

"We are disgusted at this periodic revelation," Miss Mary Hinkley said. "We must clean up the dirt once for all and be thoroughly assured that after one case has been brought to light, paraded to the public gaze and rectified, that another won't be found again and the endless tragedy repeated over and over."

ST. REMY.

St. Remy, June 29.—The result of the strawberry festival last Thursday night was $13.00. This will be followed by ice cream socials every two weeks during the summer months.

A delegation from the local union visited last Sunday evening and it was a very interesting meeting. Miss Kittie Gunder had charge of the meeting and Miss Overbaugh assisted.

Mrs. Almira York spent Sunday with her sister, Mrs. Kathryn Sutton.

Miss Lena Eckert and friend of Rifton called on Mrs. Schuyler Deyo on Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Mary Halstead of Kingston was the guest of Mrs. S. Van Vliet on Sunday.

Edna Rothenberger celebrated her birthday last Monday. Her father presented her with a lawn swing.

Miss Sarah Van Aken, president of the Junior Christian Endeavor, gave the children an outing to Kingston Point last Wednesday. Although they were compelled to return home in the rain, they all reported a fine time. A number of friends went along with them.

Mrs. S. Van Vliet has had a fine concrete walk laid around the house.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Stokes of Stamford are guests of Mrs. E. M. Durham and Mrs. D. Carney.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Krom and sister called at Isaac Freer's and Clarence Freer's on Monday afternoon.

Mrs. Emma Haines and Mrs. Henry Raymer were guests of Mrs. S. G. Haines last Friday.

Miss Eva Lyons is convalescent.

The leader of the Christian Endeavor next Sunday evening will be David Ackerman. Topic, "How to Make Ours an Ideal Nation." 1 Pet. 2:1-10.

PALENTOWN.

Palentown, June 29.—The old fashioned home gathering which was held at George Kirk's up at the Valley View farm last Friday evening, was well attended. All enjoyed themselves. Dancing and other games were enjoyed. Ice cream and cake were served. Much kindness was shown to make it an agreeable affair.

Mrs. H. Traver has returned home after spending from Sunday until Thursday with relatives in Krumville.

Miss Phoebe Dymond is spending some time with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Dymond, in this place.

Mrs. William Grey is spending some time in Kingston with her sister, Mrs. L. Lyons.

Freeman Roosa, who has been laid up with the rheumatism for some time, is about the same.

Miss Nellie Markle from Acorn Hill called on her grandparents in this place Saturday last.

Chester Paken expects to leave for Greene county in a few days where he has employment for the summer season.

Everett Brennan has begun his new barn he is going to build. Roy Van Valkenburg is doing the carpenter work.

Edward Secor from Ashokan was a visitor at William Dymond's Sunday last; also their son, William, from Greene county.

Miss Maud Grey spent Saturday afternoon with Miss Grace Traver, her schoolmate.

John H. Traver was one of the eighty-eight that took chauffeur examination at the city hall in Kingston June 29.

KERHONKSON.

Kerhonkson, June 28.—The Kerhonkson celebration of the Fourth of July will be held on the M. E. Church grounds. There will be a street parade of automobiles and wagons at 3 o'clock and speaking on the grounds at 2:30 p. m. Ice cream, candies and soft drinks will be for sale. A splendid supper will be served by the ladies from 5 to 9 o'clock. The Kerhonkson orchestra will furnish the music for the afternoon and evening and a home talent entertainment will be given in the church at 8 o'clock and fireworks will be given in the evening.

OUR DAILY PATTERN.

A Charming Gown.

Waist 1658—Skirt 1659. Composed of Ladies' Waist Pattern, 1658, and Ladies' Skirt Pattern, 1659.

As here illustrated, white linen embroidered in self color was used. The waist is smart and up-to-date, with the surplice vest portions. The skirt may be finished with or without the drapery. Serge, jersey cloth, taffeta, voile, batiste, crepe, gingham, rib silk, gabardine and nun's veiling are all nice for this style.

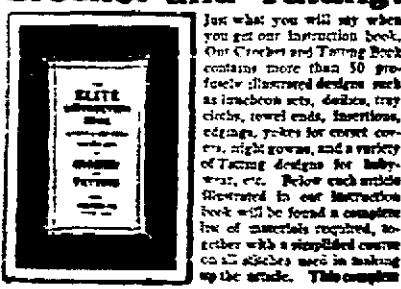

The waist pattern is cut in 6 sizes: 34, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44 inches bust measure. The skirt is cut 6 sizes: 22, 24, 26, 28, 30 and 32 inches waist measure. It requires 7 1/2 yards of 44 inch material for the entire gown for a 36 inch size.

This illustration calls for TWO separate patterns, which will be mailed to any address on receipt of ten cents FOR EACH pattern, in silver or stamps, by The Freeman Pattern Department. Be sure to state size wanted.

The KITCHEN CABINET

Ordinary men live among marvels and feel nothing new about them. Then comes an independent mind which sees; and it surprises us to find how servile we have been to habit and opinion, how blind to what we also might have been, had we used our eyes.—G. H. Lewis.

HOT BREADS.

A half cupful of cooked cereal, rice or hominy may be added to almost any corn or muffin recipe to its improvement. A hot muffin is always welcome and a variety also.

Nut Muffins.—Mix a cupful of grated crumbs, two egg yolks, a half cupful of milk, two tablespoonfuls of chopped nuts and a fourth of a teaspoonful of salt; beat in a tablespoonful of softened butter and fold in the stiffly beaten whites the last thing. Bake 15 minutes in gem pans in a moderate oven.

Graham Muffins.—Beat an egg light, add a cupful of milk, a cupful and a half of graham flour and a half cupful of flour, beat well and add a teaspoonful each of butter and lard and another fourth of a cupful of milk. Bake in muffin pans in a moderately hot oven about twenty minutes.

Fruit Gems.—Take a cupful of whole-wheat flour and a half cupful of cornmeal; add a cupful of mixed fruits, currants and raisins or dates. Beat two egg yolks and add with a cupful and a half of milk, lastly fold in the stiffly beaten whites. Bake 20 minutes or more.

Hominy Pone.—Take a cupful of boiled hominy, a half cupful of cornmeal, butter the size of an egg, a teaspoonful of salt, well mixed while hot. Cool and add a cupful of milk, two eggs beaten well. Bake in muffin pans or in a thin sheet in a very quick oven.

Breakfast Muffins.—Take a pint of flour, a tablespoonful of sugar, a half teaspoonful of salt, two teaspoonfuls of baking powder, all sifted well together; add a beaten egg, and a cupful of milk, stir in two tablespoonfuls of softened butter; beat well and bake in muffin pans 20 minutes.

Popovers.—Take a pint each of flour and milk, two eggs, a half teaspoonful of salt. Beat the eggs until very thick, add milk and flour alternately until it is as smooth as cream. Bake in a moderate oven 40 minutes. Do not open the oven for the first half hour. If put into deep granite cups it makes a very light cake.

KINGSTON, N. Y., JUNE 29, 1916.

In one respect the volunteers of 1916 will find better conditions prevailing than those who volunteered for service in 1898. Since the Spanish War sanitary conditions have been studied so thoroughly and apparently have become so firmly fixed in the National Guard system that no plan is undertaken which fails to provide for safeguarding the health of the men. The attention paid to sanitation has not been without result, and the Ulster county boys who left Kingston today for camp and possibly to meet war conditions do not labor under the disadvantage of imperfectly realizing the principles which govern the health of large bodies of men. Nobody would sacrifice the slightest particle of preparation made for the health of the regular army and the volunteers, but it cannot but be a matter of sincere regret that preparedness has not been extended to other phases of the service. One result of military camp life is to weed out the weaklings and make stronger and better men out of those fit for active service. Under the old conditions those who were weak quickly contracted disease or otherwise became incapacitated, but

What She'd Do.

A miserly landlord was going round collecting his rents the other day. At one house he was greatly interested in a little girl, who watched open-mouthed and open-eyed the business of paying over the money and accepting the receipt. He tapped her on the head, and started to search his pockets, saying, "I must see what I have got for you." After searching his pockets for some time he at last brought out from a remote corner a peppermint. He handed it to the girl, he said, "And now what will you do with that?" The little girl looked at it, then at him, and replied, "Wash it." —Boston Post.

ROADS APPROVED BY SUPERVISORS

One Section Not Approved Because Right of Way Demand Is Deemed Excessive — Several "Links" to be Built.

The board of supervisors held a two-hour special session at the court house Wednesday night, when resolutions were adopted approving the plans for 6.84 miles of county highway at a total estimated cost of $98,800, of which the county of Ulster will pay $34,580.

The board refused to approve the plans for the High Falls-Stone Ridge county highway, a distance of 1.80 miles to be built at an estimated cost of $28,800, because Frank Sahler of High Falls wants $2,500 for a small piece of land required to straighten out the dangerous curve near the Ontario & Western railroad station, which amount the board considers so excessive that it will compel Mr. Sahler to fight for his money unless he comes down on the price.

Option Question Starts Debate.

Debate lasting more than an hour was started by Supervisor Rifenburg inquiring whether rights of way had been acquired for the various roads for which the board had met to approve plans and authorize construction.

The roads for which the plans had been completed by the state highway department as county highways, which the board met to approve were:

Wallkill-Newburgh County Highway, Part I—Town of Shawangunk; length, 3.12 miles, extending from intersection of Main street with road passing over the Wallkill bridge and thence along the main street and across the Wallkill Valley railroad track, to the county highway at the intersection of the Orange-Ulster county lines. Total estimated cost, $37,000, of which the state pays 65 per cent, amounting to $24,050, and the county pays 35 per cent, amounting to $12,950.

Rosendale Village County Highway—Town of Rosendale; distance, 2.17 miles, extending from the south section of County Highway No. 229 at the bridge over the Delaware & Hudson canal, to County Highway No. 229, and from the Rondout creek bridge to County Highway No. 419. Total estimated cost, $46,300, of which the state pays 65 per cent, amounting to $30,095, and the county pays 35 per cent, amounting to $16,205.

Milton Landing-Milton County Highway—Town of Marlborough; distance, .55 of a mile, extending from the West Shore railroad tracks to State Highway No. 5,001. Total estimated cost, $15,500, of which the state pays 65 per cent amounting to $10,075, and the county pays 35 per cent, amounting to $5,424.

High Falls-Stone Ridge County Highway—Town of Marlborough; distance, 1.80 miles, extending from County Highway No. 229 at the Rosendale town line, thence through High Falls to Stone Ridge. Total estimated cost, $28,800, of which the state pays 65 per cent, amounting to $18,720, and the county pays 35 per cent, amounting to $10,080.

How Options Were Obtained.

In answer to Supervisor Rifenburg's question whether rights of way had been obtained, Supervisor McElhone of Shawangunk, whose resolution for the construction of the Wallkill road was first up for consideration, said that all rights of way had been provided for except one piece, the owner of which would make a satisfactory price.

Supervisor Vanderlyn of New Paltz, on behalf of the committee appointed to acquire rights of way for state and county highways, said his committee had not purchased any rights of way.

County Attorney John W. Eckert in explanation said that after the board's experience in condemning two pieces of land in the town of Lloyd, for which $400 had been awarded at a cost four times that amount, it had been suggested that the supervisors of the different towns where the roads were to be built see what they could do toward obtaining options, which must be passed on by the road committee. The supervisors considered the prices reasonable.

After the Wallkill road had been approved, Supervisor Rifenburg repeated his question to Supervisor DuBois of Rosendale regarding that road. Supervisor DuBois said all the options had been covered.

Supervisor Scherhorn of this county asked whether it would not have been advisable for the road committee to have acted in the matter; while individual supervisors might think they had options, by reason of their having no authority he did not see how they had anything.

Supervisors' Clerk DeWitt said that as some supervisors might be puffed over the action taken, he wished to explain that inasmuch as the office of supervisor was now a salaried office and the supervisors received no extra pay for committee work, it had been thought advisable for the clerk and county superintendent of highways to try to make satisfactory settlements with owners although he had acted against his better judgment in the matter. Consequently he and County Superintendent Loughran met the supervisors of the different towns and procured options at reasonable figures.

County Attorney Eckert said there had been no agreement as to price because the county had no right to acquire land until after the plans now up for adoption had been approved, but owners had a right to make an offer to the county to sell land at a certain price and such an agreement to sell could be enforced as against the owner although there was nothing in the options to compel the county to buy. None of the options named a price in excess of $200.

Clerk DeWitt said the largest price named in any option was $100.

Supervisor Vanderlyn asked what use the options were unless the price was stated in them, and County Attorney Eckert said the amount was stated in each option. Supervisor Vanderlyn said he could not see that the county had any options.

Clerk DeWitt said that in every instance except one the owners had been told the options could not be enforced against the county and were not binding, except as against the owner. In one instance the owner had asked for a copy of the option but was told he could not be furnished with a copy until it was signed by the chairman of the committee.

Supervisor Woolsey said that while exorbitant prices had been asked originally for the land required in the town of Marlborough, the owners had been made to realize by their friends that the road would not be constructed unless they were reasonable in their prices, and after three months' personal work he had succeeded in getting options by which the owners offered their land to the county for $100 each for the two parcels for which $1,000 had been asked originally.

Under these statements, the resolutions for the construction of the Wallkill, Rosendale and Milton roads were adopted.

Marbletown Furnishes a Snag.

Supervisor Roosa of Marbletown, in answer to Supervisor Rifenburg's question, said all the options had been obtained except one, and Frank Sahler, the owner of that property, absolutely refused to allow the county to have the property at a reasonable figure. He had worked night and day on the matter but Mr. Sahler would not budge from his demand for $2,500 and it was useless to talk to him. The people of Marbletown demanded the road, however, and he hoped the board would see they got it.

Supervisor Rifenburg said he would like to see the town of Marbletown get the road, but thought some definite conclusion should be reached before the resolution was passed. If there was some way to secure the land without resorting to litigation, that way should be followed, and if action was deferred, Sahler's neighbors might be able to convince him of his error.

Supervisor Vanderlyn opposed deferring action. He said perhaps the men who advised Supervisor Rifenburg knew more than the county supervisors, but it seemed hard for an entire town to be compelled to suffer for one man's action in demanding an exorbitant price as Sahler was doing. Even if that man was at loggerheads with all the rest of the town, the rest of the town should be considered and their rights preserved. They should not be punished for one man's action.

Supervisor Woolsey suggested that the same plan be followed by the people of Marbletown as was followed by the people of Marlborough.

Supervisor Fratscher suggested that the board would be called together again in a week or ten days to adopt other plans for other roads and that the Marbletown matter could be laid over until then.

All the leading men of the town of Marbletown had been to see Mr. Sahler, said Supervisor Roosa, but to no avail and they could make no impression on him. The property was needed to eliminate one of the worst curves in any road in the county, where the road passes under the railroad tracks at the station, and while Mr. Sahler demanded $2,500 for it, there was not a farmer in the entire town who would swear the property was worth more than $200.

Supervisor Rifenburg denied that he had been "instructed" by anyone in this matter or any other matter, but his eyes had been opened. There should be some way of getting the land for less than $2,500; condemnation certainly would cost less than that amount.

Supervisor Vanderlyn said he never said that Mr. Rifenburg had been "instructed," but that he had been "advised," the same as any wise man sought advice. Referring the matter to the road committee, he said, was merely "passing the buck."

Supervisor Lounsbury of Rochester

said he knew Mr. Sahler and knew it was impossible to influence him by public opinion. The board ought not to allow one man to hold it up, and if Sahler could not get what he wanted, he should be made to take what he could get. Similar views were expressed by Supervisor Merrihew.

Supervisor McElhone said he believed any man could be influenced by public opinion, to which Supervisor Roosa said the case was like that of a balky horse, and if any supervisor thought he could influence Mr. Sahler, he would willingly furnish transportation to High Falls and pay all expenses.

Sahler's Price Delays Plans.

After some further debate, Supervisor Rifenburg moved that the matter be laid over until the next meeting of the board, and that when the board adjourned it be subject to the call of the chair.

Supervisor Fratscher moved as an amendment to refer the Roosa resolution approving the plans and authorizing construction to the committee on securing rights of way.

The Fratscher amendment was lost by a vote of 11 to 18, and Supervisor Rifenburg's motion to lay the matter over until the next meeting was adopted by a vote of 18 to 11.

Rosendale Improvement Requested.

The board adopted a resolution offered by Supervisor Nathaniel DuBois of Rosendale calling for the improvement as a county highway of the road extending from the Rondout creek bridge in Rosendale, through James street, Keator avenue and Eltinge street, to the north end of County Highway No. 419 at the corporation limits, a distance of .93 of a mile.

Releases for Ashokan Contractors.

A communication from County Attorney Eckert stated that MacArthur Brothers & Company and Winston & Company had about completed Contract No. 3 and desired to know the amount of the county's claim against the city of New York for expenses incurred on behalf of the city in criminal cases arising on that contract. The Transit Construction Company also desired similar information regarding cases arising on Contract No. 76, as did Zadoc P. Boice regarding Contract No. 143. Charges collectible from the Transit Construction Company amounted to $267.83, in the case of the "people against Nicholucci Pecciballi, but there were no charges against Mr. Boice. The Transit Construction Company had deposited a check for the amount of the county's claim, for which it asked that a release be given.

On motion of Supervisor Merrihew, Mr. Boice and the Transit Construction Company were released from any further claim.

On motion of Supervisor McElhone, the chairman was directed to appoint a committee of three to investigate, prepare and report the items expended or incurred by the county on behalf of the city of New York in criminal cases, with power to negotiate a settlement with the city of New York or any contractor. Chairman Hartshorn appointed as such committee Supervisors William W. McElhone of Shawangunk, Frank W. Brink of Ulster and James Lounsbury of Rochester.

On motion of Supervisor Rifenburg, the board adjourned subject to the call of the chair.

Federal Inquiry or Railroad Strike?

Faced by demands from the conductors, engineers, firemen and brakemen that would impose on the country an additional burden in transportation costs of $100,000,000 a year, the railroads propose that this wage problem be settled by reference to an impartial Federal tribunal.

With these employes, whose efficient service is acknowledged, the railroads have no differences that could not be considered fairly and decided justly by such a public body.

Railroads Urge Public Inquiry and Arbitration

The formal proposal of the railroads to the employes for the settlement of the controversy is as follows:

"Our conferences have demonstrated that we cannot harmonize our differences of opinion, and that eventually the matters in controversy must be passed upon by other and disinterested agencies. Therefore, we propose that your proposals and the proposition of the railroads be disposed of by one or the other of the following methods:

1. Preferably by submission to the Interstate Commerce Commission, the only tribunal which, by reason of its accumulated information bearing on railway conditions and its control of the revenue of the railways, is in a position to consider and protect the rights and equities of all the interests affected, and to provide additional revenue necessary to meet the added cost of operation in case your proposals are found by the Commission to be just and reasonable; or, in the event the Interstate Commerce Commission cannot, under existing laws, act in the premises, that we jointly request Congress to take such action as may be necessary to enable the Commission to consider and promptly dispose of the questions involved; or
2. By arbitration in accordance with the provisions of the Federal law" (The Newlands Act).

Leaders Refuse Offer and Take Strike Vote

Leaders of the train service brotherhoods, at the joint conference held in New York, June 1-15, refused the offer of the railroads to submit the issue to arbitration or Federal review, and the employes are now voting on the question whether authority shall be given these leaders to declare a nation-wide strike.

The Interstate Commerce Commission is proposed by the railroads as the public body to which this issue ought to be referred for these reasons:

No other body with such an intimate knowledge of railroad conditions has such an unquestioned position in the public confidence.

The rates the railroads may charge the public for transportation are now largely fixed by this Government board.

Out of every dollar received by the railroads from the public nearly one-half is paid directly to the employes as wages; and the money to pay increased wages can come from no other source than the rates paid by the public.

The Interstate Commerce Commission, with its control over rates, is in a position to make a complete investigation and render such decision as would protect the interests of the railroad employes, the owners of the railroads, and the public.

A Question For the Public to Decide

The railroads feel that they have no right to grant a wage preferment of $100,000,000 a year to these employes, now highly paid and constituting only one-fifth of all the employes, without a clear mandate from a public tribunal that shall determine the merits of the case after a review of all the facts.

The single issue before the country is whether this controversy is to be settled by an impartial Government inquiry or by industrial warfare.

FIRST CLASS DAY AT HIGH SCHOOL

The first class day exercises, those of the K. H. S. Class of 1916, to be held in the new high school were of unusual excellence, and enjoyable for all present, whether interested in particular members of the class or not. When the curtains were drawn the picture was a most pleasing one, with the girls in their charming gowns, the manly youth, the excellent school orchestra, and as a background two large American flags, the best possible background just now. And the exercises proved as attractive as the group on the stage. Throughout the program, the orchestra, composed of some ten members of the high school, rendered exceedingly pleasant music, playing in good tone and tune, with a good ensemble and rhythmically. The Kingston Symphony Society will find excellent material to recruit its war-depleted ranks, in the high school orchestra. Sherman V. Hasbrouck in his President's Address, expressed for the class of 1916, their appreciation of what the citizens of Kingston had done for its student body in erecting and equipping the most magnificent high school in the Hudson Valley. He also spoke in warm praise of the faculty, and thanked the many members of the Board of Education who attended the baccalaureate address. Then welcoming the large audience, Mr. Hasbrouck introduced George W. Green as the Class Orator.

Mr. Green took as his subject, "True Americanism," which he described as putting into action the country's ideals and that against all opposition. The young orator seriously considered the times, and bespoke the heartfelt, soul deep purpose of all to show their patriotism, for the country which converts the peoples of many countries into the people of one country; the flag of many countries into the flag of one country, the stars and stripes. He warned against emulating European civilization so called, and against those who come from abroad remained in this country, foreign, and asked for good Americanism as the one great thing, forgetting what divides and remembering and using what unites. Through wisdom, peace and liberty, America must prove true to the world task before her.

Miss Ida Lazarus, the Class Elocutionist, gave a remarkably realistic, dramatic and inspiring rendition of a composition entitled "The Story of the Boy." The boy's lack of understanding of his father's absence; that father's sudden appearance and strange and terrible enforcing of the lesson of the two words, "Lies" and "Money," and especially his almost fierce demand that the boy should never be: then the childish difficulty of deciding between the lie and what it would buy for him, and the truth and what he would lose, including danger to his father, were vividly portrayed. The audience was really breathless, as Miss Lazarus pictured the boy telling the truth, taking the consequences like a little man and closing the story with the little fellow's appeal to both the departing father and agonized mother, "Was I brave?"

To Joseph Hazen was given the honor of addressing the faculty, to whom he was most complimentary and grateful. The speaker cleverly depicted the class as starting on a voyage with several pilots instead of the customary one: stopping at many ports; first that of Sophomore Island, that of the "Wise Fools," then at "Junior Point," a spot having the Cape of Good Hope and Cape Horn beaten a mile; arriving, finally, in spite of the songs of the sirens, at their final port of graduation.

Miss Miperva Van Gaasbeck, the Class Historian, told interestingly of the haps and mishaps of the 1916 body through the experiences of Freshman, Sophomore, Junior and Senior culmination. Nor were the social activities the literary efforts, or the historic achievements overlooked by the historian.

Calvin D. Winne, in spite of his "embarrassment," did his best to lead the Juniors in the paths of rectitude, through sage advice, and the recital of lessons of wisdom drawn from the lives and history of the Seniors. The "advice," was full of fun and some earnestness, and was responded to by Edward E. Stelle, who gave the Junior Reply. In this reply, the speaker called attention, cleverly to the undue modesty of the Seniors in failing to mention their proportionate share in the glories of athletic and literary efforts, and apologetically mentioned the impudence of the Juniors in daring to become rivals of the Seniors. In more serious vein, Mr. Stelle expressed appreciation of the rivalry that had had to be lived down by this Senior Class; their lack of precedent, and the high standard which they had set for K. H. S. and which the Juniors fully intended to maintain, if not excel.

Miss Mary E. Donovan, the Class Poet, recited with fine appreciation of the poem, "Opportunity," which like all of the numbers on the program was received with cordial applause.

The Class Prophecy as given by Ruth Humphrey, was both very clever and unique. Sitting at a table with a great glass of destiny before her she read for each classmate a fitting future, again and again calling forth applause by the wit of her forecastings.

Samuel Goldwasser, the Class Critic, had no easy task, but assumed his duties impartially, evidently accepting the word critic in its original meaning of "one who separates, decides, judges," and he accomplished his task admirably. Every member of the class, "every victim" was weighed in the scales, and where found wanting in one scale, the other found to be overweighted, compliments and good natured "knocks" being handed out impartially.

Of course the Class Legacy was looked forward to eagerly, and was more than ordinarily well bequeathed by Miss Jane Schultzer, who in charming manner not only bequeathed but presented each classmate with a humorously appropriate bequest. The delightful evening was brought to a close with the singing of the Class Song, written by R. G. T., and which was as follows:

Class Song.

Alma Mater, new protectress,
Guardian of our allied clans,
Winged time bids us be going
As the hour glass drops its sands.

We, the first to leave thine altars,
We, the first to hear thy name,
Pioneers will be in blazing
Paths unto thy endless fame.

Strong the tie that e'er shall bind us,
Classmates of dear K. H. S.
Ne'er be pierced our mystic circle,
Ne'er shall we fail friendship's test.

Honor we thy name, Oh, Kingston,
Though we wander from thy halls;
Know thou as we sadly leave thee
That we will e'er heed thy calls.

Youth speeds far too swiftly from us,
Youth with all his wondrous dreams,
We shall be old on the morrow,
Gone, the men of all thy teams.

Yet when Father Time has won us,
We'll think of the days gone by,
When we all were here together,
In the halls of Kingston High.

MEXICAN REPORT ON CARRIZAL BATTLE

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Mexico City, June 28, via El Paso, Tex., June 29.—In reply to Chief Executive Carranza's request for a full report on the Carrizal battle, General Jacinto B. Trevino has transmitted from Chihuahua City a statement which he says was sworn to by Lemuel H. Spillsbury, the civilian interpreter who accompanied the American forces to Carrizal. In this statement, which was made public today, Spillsbury holds the American soldiers responsible for the conflict, that General Gomez, the Mexican commander, was courteous in his warnings to the Tenth Cavalry and that Captain Charles T. Boyd thought the Mexicans were bluffing.

Following is the full text of Spillsbury's statement as sent by General Trevino:

"My name is Lemuel H. Spillsbury and I have been interpreter for General Pershing since the troops entered Mexico. I was without employment and stone broke, through no work going on around Pearson, near which place I live.

"I speak good Spanish, having been raised here. I left Casas Grandes Sunday morning as interpreter for Captain Boyd. There were eighty-seven all told, being 41 of C Troop and 46 of K Troop. Captain Morey and Lieut. Adair were with the men, all of the Tenth Cavalry.

"Captain Boyd sent into Carrizal a messenger yesterday morning to the jefe politico saying he was on a peaceful mission and asking permission to pass through Villa Ahumada and for him to advise the military authorities.

"General Gomez sent out Lieut. Col. Rivas and an escort of eighty men to tell us that he had orders to stop us there until he heard further.

"Captain Boyd said he had heard of a robbery in Santo Domingo and the presence of bandits there and he wanted to run them down. He wanted also to recapture a deserter who had got away.

"Lieut. Col. Rivas replied that there were no bandits in that place and that they would have to pass over their dead bodies.

"After further talk he retired back to the town and General Gomez sent a note asking the Americans to come into town for a conference.

"Captain Boyd did not like the idea and said so, whereupon General Gomez called personally and repeated his orders that they could not pass through. He said that his instructions from General Trevino that if Americans moved east, west or south of their old positions they were to be attacked; General Pershing must know this and that the captain ought to know it.

"Captain Boyd admitted he was aware of the orders, but his own orders were to get through Villa Ahumada and he had to obey.

"General Gomez repeated his refusal and said that if the Americans advanced he would at once fire on them. Captain Boyd then said 'All right,' but I think he thought that General Gomez was only trying to comply with his orders from his superior and would not really attack.

"General Gomez had retired to his men, who were lined up on the outside of the town, when Captain Boyd gave the order to advance. Shortly after the firing commenced and our men started to drop. Captain Boyd and Lieut. Adair were killed and Captain Morey was wounded in the shoulder, but I think he got away.

"The ten men who were holding our horses fled with the lot and we were surrounded and had to surrender. Saw the dead bodies of Boyd and Adair, also the bodies of 12 negroes, although there might have been more. I do not know how many Mexicans were killed besides General Gomez.

"I consider that the entire fault of the fight belongs to the Americans as General Gomez was very courteous in his insistence that we retire and frequently pointed out that he must be loyal to his superior's orders and fire on them if they persisted to advance. But as I said before, Captain Boyd seemed to think they were only bluffing and seemed to think he could force a passage in any case.

"I have been trying to get away from my employment for some time because I only accepted work with General Pershing to help catch Villa, if possible, and as soon as I saw that the Americans were likely to cause war with Mexico I tried repeatedly to get away, because I have many more Mexican friends than American ones. But General Pershing would not let me go and I was afraid to try to escape and return to my people's ranch near Casas Grandes through fear that they might punish me.

WEST SAUGERTIES.

West Saugerties, June 29.—The boarding houses are open and all ready for the summer boarders, of whom there are a few here already.

The Christian Endeavor social and entertainment held in Blue Mountain Church last Wednesday evening was a success in all respects.

Mr. McDermott gave the school children a picnic on Friday before leaving them. Everyone was invited and, of course, there was a goodly attendance.

Eleanor Korb, who has been staying at Mountain Stream House, proprietor, Mrs. Renner, has returned to her home.

John Cole and family and sister, Emily, spent Saturday night and Sunday with their parents, S. P. Cole and wife.

Vernon Engleman is spending the summer with F. Mott and wife, his grandparents.

Our minister, Mr. Norris, is a very energetic young man. He is making plans for keeping the young people, and older ones, too, busy through the summer. We wish him all success.

S. P. Cole returned to the village of Saugerties after a few weeks' stay in West Saugerties.

Mrs. Brown and children spent a couple of days at their residence here the first of the week.

Mrs. Milton Hommel and Mrs. Joshua Snyder spent Monday afternoon at the home of Richard Boree in Blue Mountain. Her daughter, Mrs. James Hommel, of Saugerties, was a guest there also.

Miss Cecelia Herzog of Weehawken and a niece are guests of her sister, Mrs. Milton Hommel.

The young people of our Christian Endeavor Society are preparing for an entertainment on the 18th of July. This place has been noted for good entertainments, so we hope this one will keep up the good opinion.

George Davis of Cementon spent Sunday with his wife and her father, Charles Hommel.

FLICKER
(Colaptes auratus)

Length, thirteen inches. The yellow under surface of the wing, yellow tail shafts, and white rump are characteristic.

Range: Breeds in the eastern United States west to the plains and in the forested parts of Canada and Alaska; winters in most of the eastern United States.

Habits and economic status: The flicker inhabits the open country rather than the forest and delights in park-like regions where trees are numerous and scattered. It nests in any large cavity in a tree and readily appropriates an artificial box. It is possible, therefore, to insure the presence of this useful bird about the farm and to increase its numbers. It is the most terrestrial of our woodpeckers and procures much of its food from the ground. The largest item of animal food is ants, of which the flicker eats more than any other common bird. Ants were found in 524 of the 684 stomachs examined and 98 stomachs contained no other food. One stomach contained over 5,000 and two others held over 3,000 each. While bugs are not largely eaten by the flicker, one stomach contained 17 chinch bugs. Wild fruits are next to ants in importance in the flicker's dietary. Of these sour gum and wild black cherry stand at the head. The food habits of this bird are such as to recommend it to complete protection.

ENGINEERING FEATS BY SOLDIER BOYS

Facilities in Loading Equipment at Rhinecliff Quickly Overcome and All in Readiness on Time—Train in Hour Late.

With whistles blowing and the id playing patriotic airs the ferry import left her slip at Rondout promptly at 8:30 o'clock with Company M on board bound for Rhinecliff thence by train to Camp Whitman. The shores along the creek were lined black with people from the ferry slip down through Ponckie, and nearly every spectator armed with an American flag, which they waved vigorously. With the sun shining brightly the picture that never will be forgotten by those who lined the shores with straining eyes tried to catch the forms of loved ones from the gallant boys on board.

Murdock's Salute.

On the way across the river Murdock, headed by James S. Bar-Spanish War veteran, played patriotic airs. At the Cornell shops and he gas company plant in Ponckie the shrill blast of the whistles the air to which the transport ended. As the ferry neared the lighthouse the lighthouse bell tolled continuously while Old Glory ran up to the top of the pole. The lighthouse was gallantly decorated with the national colors and Keeper dock while tolling the bell found to wave Old Glory with the hand.

Friends on Other Side.

On the Rhinecliff side of the river boys were met by a number of friends and relatives who had gone on an earlier ferry so as to have time to catch a last glimpse of the train bore them southward—only the future can tell.

Anting and flags waved gallantly.

from the houses while the residents lined the roadway to the station and cheered the boys as they marched to the station.

Equipment Loaded.

At the station the main company deployed and were allowed to lay aside their guns and equipment while waiting for the train. In the meantime the camp equipment on three wagons in charge of Lieutenant Dittus made its way to the Slate dock, as it is known, where a box car and a flat car lay on the siding on which the camp equipment was to be stored.

It was a long journey, as a detour had to be made of over a mile before the heavily loaded wagons descended down a winding hill that led to the freight house.

"I wonder will we get a taste of hills like this in Mexico," remarked Private Wolfersberg, as he wiped the sweat from his brow.

As the wagons drew up to the freight station platform the detail in charge leaped from the wagon and willing hands had soon unloaded the equipment onto the platform where it was transferred with a rush into the box car. Only half of the box car was allotted to Company M, as the other half was to carry the equipment of the Poughkeepsie company, but it proved room enough with some skillful packing.

The Wagon Problem.
The problem then was to get the heavy army wagon upon the flat car. The two other wagons used were part of the equipment of Expressman Powell, and after being unloaded returned to town. The army wagon was loaded to its fullest capacity and easily weighed in the neighborhood of three tons.

Lieutenant Dittus, however, was equal to the occasion. Not in vain had he watched the circus load flat cars in Kingston. He had the team that drew the wagon unhitched and then a long chain was secured and attached to the side of the wagon and with the full strength of the detail shoving the wagon rattled safely upon the station platform.

The question now was how to get the wagon onto the box car which was about level with the platform. Boards were secured and nailed down tightly forming a bridge and the men with a will shoved the heavy wagon up onto the car and then made it fast.

By the time the equipment was loaded aboard the cars the soldiers were sweating freely, even though they had doffed their heavy coats and equipment. Record time was made in loading the equipment aboard the cars, and the boys found that they still had plenty of time to spare as the train that was to carry them to Camp Whitman was over an hour late.

They amused themselves by enjoying a smoke while waiting for the train to pick them up, preferring to sit down and rest while they could to the task of marching back a mile to the station where their comrades were waiting.

Almost a Mascot.
An amusing feature of the work was the antics of a stray pup that took a liking to the detail and followed behind the wagons until the freight station was reached. There the canine persisted in getting in the way, and uttered joyful yowls as he surveyed the busy scene.

So friendly was the dog that some of the members expressed the intention of taking him along to the front as a mascot, but unfortunately the dog in the excitement following the arrival of the troop train was left behind in the shuffle. He followed behind the train for some distance, but dropped behind as the train got well under headway.

Back at the passenger station a gay sight was presented. The platform was crowded with relatives and friends gathered to bid the boys goodbye. The gay colored dresses of the women formed a bright background to the khaki uniforms of the soldiers.

Word reached the company that the train was an hour late and they piled their equipment here and there on the station platform while they conversed with friends and relatives.

Some of the boys had secured a baseball and amused themselves by playing "catch" until train time, while others munched on goodies and fruit that thoughtful friends had brought over with them anticipating that perhaps the train would be late, or that the boys would enjoy them on the way to camp.

All of the boys were in high good humor, and when several got together they broke into song singing a ditty composed by one of the musical geniuses of the company.

With the approach of the troop train the men hastily gathered up their equipment and with a last farewell handshake dropped into line. Amid cheers and hearty goodbyes they marched aboard the troop train as it halted to receive them.

"On Our Way to Mexico."

On board the train were Company E of Catskill and Company F of Hudson who were cheered heartily as the train drew into the station, and responded by singing vigorously.

"We Are On Our Way to Mexico" The song was set to a lively tune and the boys sang it as though they meant it.

It was to the accompaniment of soft falling tears which the women folks tried bravely to keep suppressed until the boys had gone that the troop train pulled out with the soldiers leaning far out of the car windows and from the car platforms waving their hats and throwing goodbye kisses to those left behind on the station platform.

Company M Notes.

While the departure of the boys was keenly felt by mothers, wives and sweethearts yet the boys were in unusually good spirits and by their actions and pranks showed that they intended to enjoy to the full whatever pleasure awaited them in camp and mayhaps border life.

Private Martin Netter as he sat on the station platform talking with some friends said "Well boys remember I expect to be detailed to go on a hunt for Old Man Carranza and when I catch him I will shave off his whiskers and bring them back home as a slight remembrance of life at the front." Martin expects to take up serious study of Mexican life so that upon his return he will be able to stage the one act drama "Carranza's

This is not a picture of life on the prairies nor of a part of a Wild West show, but of Company M camp on its way to be loaded on a flat car for transportation to Camp Whitman, as described in another place in The Freeman.

Whiskers, or a Tragedy in Mexico." Martin is one of the best amateur actors in Ulster county and his friends expect great things from him in the dramatic line when he returns.

Private Arthur Mesereau says that he is glad of the opportunity of visiting Mexico as he has always wanted to taste real old fashioned Mexican cooking. He also expects to compose a poem during his absence that will rank him at the head of American poets. Knowing Arthur's genius along that line we can safely say that his poem will be well worth reading.

Corporal Edgar W. Harlow and Private Perry of The Freeman force said that the only thing that was worrying them was whether they would get a chance to find one of the silver mines in which it is rumored that Villa is hiding. They said that if they do they will form a stock company upon their return to work it.

Private LeRoy Hammond said that he was only hoping that the climate would not affect his singing voice as he expected to keep up his musical studies while at the front and also learn how to play some of the Mexican instruments.

Private Julian K. Canfield, who overheard him, said that if Roy thought he could keep up his musical studies he saw no reason why he could not do the same. Canfield is the possessor of a powerful bass voice. Some of the company basely insinuated that all it was necessary to do was to place Kenneth to sleep on the border line and his snoring would make the Mexicans think that the heavy artillery was beginning to get into action.

Private Lewis Short said that he expected to be detailed to climb the trees in Mexico to scout for the advance line of Mexicans. This he said was due to his training in climbing poles while in the employ of the electric company. Lewis is also some what his friends say and expects to snipe a Mexican or two before returning home. At least he said he did.

Corporal Matty Bence said that the only thing that was worrying him was whether the Mexican to bacco was as good as the brand he had been used to handling while at work in town.

Private Frederick M. Snyder said he thought that he would use his spare time at the front to organize a company of Boy Scouts among the Mexican lads.

One of the most attractive groups, wishing Company M "God Speed," was that composed of the Kingston City Hospital nurses in their uniforms, each holding a large American flag, and all grouped on the upper terrace in front of the hospital on Broadway.

This must have been a marvelously busy morning at the Industrial Home, for a little before eight o'clock all of the boys and girls, even the little tots, were marching two by two, carrying American flags, over to Broadway near Chester street, where they were given a good place to see the soldiers march by.

Private Lester Wolff just before the train pulled in said, "Well the first Mexican I shoot I will send home by parcel post."

Charles Britt, who played the bass drum in Muller's band today, has made application as drummer in the Tenth Regiment Band.

Private Richard Dawe, Jr., who has been employed by the New York Telephone Company before he decided to go to the front, is thinking of looking over the country in Mexico with an idea of laying out a branch telephone line from Mexico City to Kingston. Then he expects to invite his friends in town to enjoy a Kingston-Mexico City talk. Private Dawe is also a singer of ability, and he and Corporal Planthaber and Geschwinder said they thought that when they reached the Mexican capital they would take over the opera house as their share of the proceeds and devote some time to educating the company in good music.

There were a number of other instructive thoughts evoked by the members, but just then the troop train pulled in and amid the racket of cheers it was impossible for the writer to make out what was said.

But before closing this brief chronicle of the day, it should be noted that Corporal Harry Costello had had his hair cut a "dead rabbit." He said that he had heard that there was considerable hot air in Mexico, and he believed in being prepared.

HIGHLAND.

Highland, June 29.—Last Sunday evening at the M. E. Church there was held a most interesting service, giving all a description of work done at the Sunday school convention held in Albany, over a week ago.

The church was beautifully decorated, using the flag of our country, showing the stars under which we were born, beam with bright promise and kindle lofty hopes. Then there were roses and peonies everywhere, making it a bower of beauty. Mr. and Mrs. Metcalf and Mr. and Mrs. Sullivan were Methodist delegates from here and gave a very interesting account of the work. There were over 5,000 people attended and 1,200 delegates reported at the convention. The pastor, the Rev. J. C. Coddington, offered prayer. The music was fine. Pine organ, with Mrs. Kelsey Staples and the orchestra, made the music well worth listening to, and it was a service that everyone enjoyed.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Clinton have had as their guests the past week their son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Noah Clinton, who reside in Croton. Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Bray and son of New York were at their home on Vineyard avenue for the week end. Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Lent had as their guest for the week end, their son, Richard, who is at present employed in Saugerties. He enjoys coming to Highland among his friends and taking auto trips through the country.

Funeral services of the late Mrs. Benjamin Johnson were held from the home of deceased last Friday afternoon, where many friends met to pay the last tribute of respect to one who had by her many good qualities endeared herself to all. She was a loving wife, daughter and mother, and will be missed in the home and by her many friends. She had been ill for some time, but it was hoped that by her going to the hospital and having an operation her days would be lengthened. Such was not to be. Her pastor, the Rev. J. C. Coddington, of the M. E. Church, who had called on her frequently, officiated, and spoke most beautifully of her character and life. She leaves to mourn her loss her father, James Oakley, her husband and two young sons. The floral display was beautiful consisting of polioleas, wreaths, heart, cross and numerous flat bouquets, showing the high esteem in which she was held. She was a member of the M. E. Church, also the Ladies' Auxiliary Club and was always willing to do whatever lay in her power for the church. The community at large expressed their sympathy to the bereaved family. The interment was in Highland cemetery, under the direction of W. E. Coddington.

The Auxiliary Club will hold their regular meeting in the church parlor on Friday, July 7th, at which time the election of officers for the year will take place. It is desired by the committee that all members come out and do not forget to bring your dues along, for that will save the collectors much traveling.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Miller motored to Modena last Saturday evening and attended an entertainment given by the school there to purchase books for their library. It was well attended and was first class in every respect. They had many good things to eat and drink on sale and realized a good sum of money for their cause.

Daughters of America will hold their regular meeting Wednesday evening, July 5, at which time the election of officers for the year will take place. It is desired by the committee that all members come out and do not forget to bring your dues along, for that will save the collectors much traveling.

Mr. and Mrs. George Auchmoody of Washington avenue are at present entertaining their daughter and children from Long Island.

Mrs. Andrew Wright Lent had a guest from Poughkeepsie for the week end.

Ernest Gerlich of Wilcox avenue has been quite ill. Glad to report he is out with the children once more.

The baccalaureate sermon was preached in the Presbyterian Church last Sunday morning by Rev. G. H. Schofield, their pastor. The graduates were about all present. The rain made it unpleasant and in fact kept many home. There was not a very large congregation present but those who ventured out were well paid.

William Christensen has returned after spending a week most delightfully in New York city.

Mr. and Mrs. William Dickson and son, Arthur, of Albany have been the guests of Mrs. Benjamin Johnson, Sr., for a short time.

Mr. and Mrs. George Winans of Poughkeepsie were guests of Mrs. George Mains, Sr., last week.

The I. D. society was entertained at the home of Mrs. Abram Wilklow Saturday last. All spent a pleasant afternoon.

The Presbyterian people held a strawberry and ice cream party on the church lawn last Saturday evening. The weather was not very favorable, little too cold to sit outside and partake of ice cream. The band played a few selections and we noticed quite a few came to hear the music but did not seem to linger long. Warm weather seems to be the article required for these sort of fetes and they are not as well attended as a few years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Jere Miller of Poughkeepsie were guests of relatives here last Sunday.

Ella O'Brien of Washington avenue is home for the summer. She is employed at Vassar College.

Mrs. Almira Freer has been on a visit among relatives in Albany.

Miss Hertha Huson has been spending a few days here with friends. Her sister, Thelma, who has been a student in high school here, has returned to her home at Towners.

Mrs. Theron DuBois of Maple avenue has returned home after spending a short time most pleasantly in Beacon with her son, George, and family.

We see Mr. Randall, the Long Island real estate dealer, here. He is staying at the Pines for a short time. The Moultes, of the Pines, have a number of guests. If the weather should clear and get warm the resort will be filled to overflowing. People who go there for one year seem to always return and bring others with them, for it is a delightful spot.

Mrs. Martin Upright was hostess to the Queen Esther Circle Saturday afternoon. The ladies worked, talked and had fine refreshments. They enjoyed the meeting and said they transacted quite some business.

Tuesday evening Highland streets gave every evidence of a city by the great number of automobiles, who had disposed of their occupants at M. E. Church, where great numbers went for commencement exercises of the Highland high school. The church was packed, seats in aisles, and standing room at a premium. A fine program was rendered. There were 14 in the graduating class, only 3 being of the male sex. The board of education was present, also the pastors of both churches, the Rev. J. C. Coddington, pastor of the M. E. Church offering prayer. There were selections on the pipe organ, also an orchestra. The welcome was given by Henry T. Hart, also the declaration by William G. Terwilliger. The solo by Miss Sullivan, piano duet by Miss Scott and Minor, recitation by Miss Sutton and valedictory oration by Miss Shay, showed that whether you handled a set of books, a pick or pen, you must work, and they have worked hard for four years, and now they wait their turn to enter greater fields stretched before them. R. E. Coon gave a grand address to the class, picturing to them the other fellow's view point, and nothing will remove from their minds the remembrance of all the faculty have done for them, and of the bright school days spent as classmates and teachers together. Parents and friends have watched the progress of these people year by year and the encouragement of Principal Marsh spurred them on to higher endeavors and stronger effort, and it is hoped these graduates may become members of society worthy of the school so well established and maintained by this generous community, and may they realize that all they have done as a pupil has been through the influence of their teachers. Diplomas were presented to them by Principal Marsh, who spoke most beautifully of their work, and of the bright and promising opportunities for their future. The class of 1916 should realize that this is a great country, and great are the advantages to enjoy in the present form of school government, and remember your four years has been a preparatory course for a greater school. Your training demands a worthy work, humanity demands you to do your duty and God demands you to do your best. Labor on, never unprepared, and let the class feeling of true friendship and sympathy never cease. Every member received beautiful gifts that they will prize greatly, and the bouquets of roses and carnations were simply exquisite, and the little girls who carried them to the front looked like fairies. It was indeed an affair that the Highland people may feel elated over, and all hope that it is the beginning of a happy and prosperous future that has been thought of day by day, and dreamed of by night.

WALKER VALLEY.
Walker Valley, June 29.—Miss Elsie Mead of Geneva, N. Y., who has been several weeks with her nurse, Mrs. J. C. Depew, is gaining very fast.

Mr. and Mrs. James Blythe and little daughter of Brooklyn, who have been stopping for summer vacation the past four summers at the Walker Valley House, came up last week for their vacation.

Word was received on Sunday that Mrs. Albert Cole was very ill.

Mrs. Anson Polhamus and little son came up Sunday for a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Polhamus.

Mrs. Ida Lockwood of Middletown is visiting Mrs. C. D. Buckridge.

Mrs. J. C. Depew went to Summitville for a few weeks.

Robert DeWitt, who is painting in Middletown, spent Monday with his mother.

ROADS APPROVED BY SUPERVISORS

One Section Not Approved Because Right of Way Demand Is Deemed Excessive — Several "Links" to be Built.

The board of supervisors held a two-hour special session at the court house Wednesday night, when resolutions were adopted approving the plans for 6.84 miles of county highway at a total estimated cost of $98,800, of which the county of Ulster will pay $34,580.

The board refused to approve the plans for the High Falls-Stone Ridge county highway, a distance of 1.80 miles to be built at an estimated cost of $28,800, because Frank Sahler of High Falls wants $2,500 for a small piece of land required to straighten out the dangerous curve near the Ontario & Western railroad station, which amount the board considers so excessive that it will compel Mr. Sahler to fight for his money unless he comes down on the price.

Option Question Starts Debate.

Debate lasting more than an hour was started by Supervisor Rifenburg inquiring whether rights of way had been acquired for the various roads for which the board had met to approve plans and authorize construction.

The roads for which the plans had been completed by the state highway department as county highways, which the board met to approve were:

Wallkill-Newburgh County Highway, Part 1—Town of Shawangunk, length, 3.12 miles, extending from intersection of Main street with road passing over the Wallkill bridge and thence along the main street and across the Wallkill Valley railroad track, to the county highway at the intersection of the Orange-Ulster county lines. Total estimated cost, $37,000, of which the state pays 65 per cent, amounting to $24,050, and the county pays 35 per cent, amounting to $12,950.

Rosendale Village County Highway—Town of Rosendale, distance, 2.17 miles, extending from the south section of County Highway No. 229 at the bridge over the Delaware & Hudson canal, to County Highway No. 229, and from the Rondout creek bridge to County Highway No. 419. Total estimated cost, $46,300, of which the state pays 65 per cent, amounting to $30,095, and the county pays 35 per cent, amounting to $16,205.

Milton Landing-Milton County Highway—Town of Marlborough, distance, .55 of a mile, extending from the West Shore railroad tracks to State Highway No. 5,001. Total estimated cost, $15,300, of which the state pays 65 per cent amounting to $10,075, and the county pays 35 per cent, amounting to $5,424.

High Falls-Stone Ridge County Highway—Town of Marlborough, distance, 1.80 miles, extending from County Highway No. 229 at the Rosendale town line, thence through High Falls to Stone Ridge. Total estimated cost, $28,800, of which the state pays 65 per cent, amounting to $18,720, and the county pays 35 per cent, amounting to $10,080.

How Options Were Obtained.

In answer to Supervisor Rifenburg's question whether rights of way had been obtained, Supervisor McElhone of Shawangunk, whose resolution for the construction of the Wallkill road was first up for consideration, said that all rights of way had been provided for except one piece, the owner of which would make a satisfactory price.

Supervisor Vanderlyn of New Paltz, on behalf of the committee appointed to acquire rights of way for state and county highways, said his committee had not purchased any rights of way.

County Attorney John W. Eckert in explanation said that after the board's experience in condemning two pieces of land in the town of Lloyd, for which $490 had been awarded at a cost four times that amount, it had been suggested that the supervisors of the different towns where the roads were to be built see what they could do toward obtaining options, which must be passed on by the road committee. The supervisors considered the prices reasonable.

After the Wallkill road had been approved, Supervisor Rifenburg repeated his question to Supervisor DuBois of Rosendale regarding that road. Supervisor DuBois said all the options had been covered.

Supervisor Schormerhorn of this city asked whether it would not have been advisable for the road committee to have acted in the matter; while individual supervisors might think they had options, by reason of their having no authority he did not see how they had anything.

Supervisors' Clerk DeWitt said that as some supervisors might be peeved over the action taken, he wished to explain that inasmuch as the office of supervisor was now a salaried office and the supervisors received no extra pay for committee work, it had been thought advisable for the clerk and county superintendent of highways to try to make satisfactory settlements with owners although he had acted against his better judgment in the matter. Consequently he and County Superintendent Loughran met the supervisors of the different towns and procured options at reasonable figures.

County Attorney Eckert said there had been no agreement as to price because the county had no right to acquire land until after the plans were up for adoption had been approved, but owners had a right to make an offer to the county to sell land at a certain price and such an agreement to sell could be enforced as against the owner although there was nothing in the options to compel the county to buy. None of the options named a price in excess of $200.

Clerk DeWitt said the largest price named in any option was $100.

Supervisor Vanderlyn asked what

Federal Inquiry or Railroad Strike?

Faced by demands from the conductors, engineers, firemen and brakemen that would impose on the country an additional burden in transportation costs of $100,000,000 a year, the railroads propose that this wage problem be settled by reference to an impartial Federal tribunal.

With these employees, whose efficient service is acknowledged, the railroads have no differences that could not be considered fairly and decided justly by such a public body.

Railroads Urge Public Inquiry and Arbitration

The formal proposal of the railroads to the employees for the settlement of the controversy is as follows:

"Our conferences have demonstrated that we cannot harmonize our differences of opinion, and that eventually the matters in controversy must be passed upon by other and disinterested agencies. Therefore, we propose that your proposals and the proposition of the railroads be disposed of by one or the other of the following methods:

1. Preferably by submission to the Interstate Commerce Commission, the only tribunal which, by reason of its accumulated information bearing on railway conditions and its control of the revenue of the railways, is in a position to consider and protect the rights and equities of all the interests affected, and to provide additional revenue necessary to meet the added cost of operation in case your proposals are found by the Commission to be just and reasonable; or, in the event the Interstate Commerce Commission cannot, under existing laws, act in the premises, that we jointly request Congress to take such action as may be necessary to enable the Commission to consider and promptly dispose of the questions involved; or
2. By arbitration in accordance with the provisions of the Federal law" (The Newlands Act).

Leaders Refuse Offer and Take Strike Vote

Leaders of the train service brotherhoods, at the joint conference held in New York, June 1-15, refused the offer of the railroads to submit the issue to arbitration or Federal review, and the employees are now voting on the question whether authority shall be given these leaders to declare a nation-wide strike.

The Interstate Commerce Commission is proposed by the railroads as the public body to which this issue ought to be referred for these reasons:

No other body with such an intimate knowledge of railroad conditions has such an unquestioned position in the public confidence.

The rates the railroads may charge the public for transportation are now largely fixed by this Government board.

Out of every dollar received by the railroads from the public nearly one-half is paid directly to the employees as wages; and the money to pay increased wages can come from no other source than the rates paid by the public.

The Interstate Commerce Commission, with its control over rates, is in a position to make a complete investigation and render such decision as would protect the interests of the railroad employees, the owners of the railroads, and the public.

A Question For the Public to Decide

The railroads feel that they have no right to grant a wage preferment of $100,000,000 a year to these employees, now highly paid and constituting only one-fifth of all the employees, without a clear mandate from a public tribunal that shall determine the merits of the case after a review of all the facts.

The single issue before the country is whether this controversy is to be settled by an impartial Government inquiry or by industrial warfare.

use the options were unless the price was stated in them, and County Attorney Eckert said the amount was stated in each option. Supervisor Vanderlyn said he could not see that the county had any options.

Clerk DeWitt said that in every instance except one the owners had been told the options could not be enforced against the county and were not binding, except as against the owner. In one instance the owner had asked for a copy of the option but was told he could not be furnished with a copy until it was signed by the chairman of the committee.

Supervisor Woolsey said that while exorbitant prices had been asked originally for the land required in the town of Marlborough, the owners had been made to realize by their friends that the road would not be constructed unless they were reasonable in their prices, and after three months' personal work he had succeeded in getting options by which the owners offered their land to the county for $100 each for the two parcels for which $1,000 had been asked originally.

Under these statements, the resolutions for the construction of the Wallkill, Rosendale and Milton roads were adopted.

Marbletown Furnishes a Snag.

Supervisor Roosa of Marbletown, in answer to Supervisor Rifenburg's question, said all the options had been obtained except one, and Frank Sahler, the owner of that property, absolutely refused to allow the county to have the property at a reasonable figure. He had worked night and day on the matter but Mr. Sahler would not budge from his demand for $2,500 and it was useless to talk to him. The people of Marbletown demanded the road, however, and he hoped the board would see they got it.

Supervisor Rifenburg said he would like to see the town of Marbletown get the road, but thought some definite conclusion should be reached before the resolution was passed. If there was some way to secure the land without resorting to litigation, that way should be followed, and if action was deferred, Sahler's neighbors might be able to convince him of his error.

Supervisor Vanderlyn opposed deferring action. He said perhaps the men who advised Supervisor Rifenburg knew more than the county supervisors, but it seemed hard for an entire town to be compelled to suffer for one man's action in demanding an exorbitant price as Sahler was doing. Even if that man was at the head of the rest of the town should be considered and their rights preserved. They should not be punished for one man's action.

Supervisor Woolsey suggested that the same plan be followed by the people of Marlborough.

Supervisor Fratscher suggested that the board would be called together again in a week or ten days to adopt other plans for other roads and that the Marbletown matter could be laid over until then.

All the leading men of the town of Marbletown had been to see Mr. Sahler, said Supervisor Roosa, but to no avail and they could make no impression on him. The property was needed to eliminate one of the worst curves in any road in the county, where the road passes under the railroad tracks at the station, and while Mr. Sahler demanded $2,500 for it, there was not a farmer in the entire town who would swear the property was worth more than $200.

Supervisor Rifenburg denied that he had been "instructed" by anyone in his matter or any other matter, but his eyes had been opened. There should be some way of getting the land for less than $2,500; condemnation certainly would cost less than that amount.

Supervisor Vanderlyn said he never said that Mr. Rifenburg had been "instructed," but that he had been "advised," the same as any wise man sought advice. Referring to the matter to the road committee, he said, was merely "passing the buck."

Supervisor Lounsbury of Rochester

said he knew Mr. Sahler and knew it was impossible to influence him by public opinion. The board ought not to allow one man to hold it up, and if Sahler could not get what he wanted, he should be made to take what he could get. Similar views were expressed by Supervisor Merrihue. Supervisor McElhone said he believed any man could be influenced by public opinion, to which Supervisor Roosa said the case was like that of a balky horse, and if any supervisor thought he could influence Mr. Sahler, he would willingly furnish transportation to High Falls and pay all expenses.

Sahler's Price Delays Plans.

After some further debate, Supervisor Rifenburg moved that the matter be laid over until the next meeting of the board, and that when the board adjourn it be subject to the call of the chair.

Supervisor Fratscher moved as an amendment to refer the Roosa resolution approving the plans and authorizing construction to the committee on securing rights of way.

The Fratscher amendment was lost by a vote of 11 to 18, and Supervisor Rifenburg's motion to lay the matter over until the next meeting was adopted by a vote of 18 to 11.

Rosendale Improvement Requested.

The board adopted a resolution offered by Supervisor Nathaniel DuBois of Rosendale calling for the improvement as a county highway of the road extending from the Rondout creek bridge in Rosendale, through James street, Keator avenue and Eltinge street, to the north end of County Highway No. 419 at the corporation limits, a distance of .92 of a mile.

Releases for Ashokan Contractors.

A communication from County Attorney Eckert stated that MacArthur Brothers & Company and Winston & Company had about completed Contract No. 3 and desired to know the amount of the county's claim against the city of New York for expenses incurred on behalf of the city in criminal cases arising on that contract. The Transit Construction Company also desired similar information regarding cases arising on Contract No. 76, as did Zadoc P. Boice regarding Contract No. 143. Charges collectible from the Transit Construction Company amounted to $267.83, in the case of The "people against Nicholas Peccilli, but there were no charges against Mr. Boice. The Transit Construction Company had deposited a check for the amount of the county's claim, for which it asked that a release be given.

On motion of Supervisor Merrihue, Mr. Boice and the Transit Construction Company were released from any further claim.

On motion of Supervisor McElhone, the chairman was directed to appoint a committee of three to investigate, prepare and report the items extended or incurred by the county on behalf of the city of New York in criminal cases, with power to negotiate a settlement with the city of New York or any contractor. Chairman Harshorn appointed as such committee Supervisors William W. McElhone of Shawangunk, Frank W. Brink of Ulster and James Lounsbury of Rochester.

On motion of Supervisor Rifenburg, the board adjourned subject to the call of the chair.

FARM BUREAUS LEAD GREAT MOVEMENT

Speaking before the annual meeting of the New York State Feed Dealers' Association at Albany on June 22, M. C. Burritt, State Director of Farm Bureaus, not only maintained the right but declared it to be the obligation of farm bureaus as farmers' organizations to assist farmers in co-operatively organizing to protect themselves against unfair methods and too high charges in the handling of farm supplies. He based his argument both upon the protection of the producers and upon the interests of consumers of farm products in farm efficiency.

Mutual Interests Involved.

He stated that the two chief savings in co-operative buying are purchasing in large quantities to get the lower cost price and paying cash to avoid the credit charge, and declared that the local dealer who is able to give farmers the advantage of these two factors has no reason to fear co-operative organization among farmers. Co-operation arises out of necessity rather than choice. With these advantages denied them, farmers have the alternative of accepting a too limited profit due to too high cost of supplies, or of combining to protect themselves against certain low profits and probable eventual bankruptcy. The speaker showed that it is in the interests of the dealers in farm supplies who are an essential part of rural communities as well as of farmers, that the men on whom the nation's food supply depends, be prosperous.

Farm Efficiency the Object.

Because their immense agricultural resources are unorganized and have not kept pace with the growth of their populations, Mr. Burritt asserted that India and China are subject to famines and one-half to two-thirds of their population is required to feed the remainder. In America the efficiency of farmers is such that one-third of the total population now feeds the other two-thirds. The whole will yet be fed by a fifth or a sixth and the remainder be released to trade and manufacture.

No small part of this efficiency, the speaker claimed, is due to the efforts of the agricultural colleges and experiment stations, whose work is now being more widely extended and applied locally by the farm bureaus. There are now thirty-six of these bureaus supported by 13,000 members. The demonstration method is used extensively, and 27,000 farmers were thus reached this last year. More than 4,000 farmers co-operated with the bureaus in conducting field tests and demonstrations.

Co-operation of all Rural Forces Needed.

"We are in the advance guard of a new forward movement in eastern agriculture in which the farm bureaus are supplying the leadership and the organization as it was never supplied before," the speaker continued. "The progressive spirit which now possesses conservative eastern farmers will not be satisfied with anything short of a rural organization in production, in the purchase of supplies and in the distribution and marketing of their products, which will give farmers the adequate compensation which their labor and investment demand. We want and expect the co-operation of all rural forces to this end, the advantages of which will be mutual and permanent."

MENKE'S DAILY SPORTING LETTER

(By Frank G. Menke).

New York, June 29.—After more than 30 years of patience, Charlie Ebbets at last is beginning to collect bulky dividends on his baseball investment.

Shortly after Noah's skiff anchored on the mount, the "Squire of Brooklyn" began to dabble in baseball. Since somewhere along in the early 80's, he has been a magnate.

Year after year he risked his bankroll by trying it up in a ball club. Times innumerable he finished the season far behind in a financial way. Once or twice, over that long sweep of years, Ebbets' ball club made money for him—but the sum was trifling. The Brooklyns were proverbial tail-enders.

With his genius and his energy, Ebbets might have gone into another business and made a huge fortune. But he stuck to baseball. He loved the game as a sport and to combine his pleasure and his business all in one enterprise was an ideal arrangement for him.

Waits 30 Years.

Patiently, hopefully, Ebbets waited through the years for a turn in the tide of fortune—for a bit of luck that went to other magnates but always seemed to pass him by.

But the same refused to smile upon the owner of the Brooklyn Dodgers; instead of bettering, conditions became worse.

"The darkest hour is just before dawn," goes an old saying, and it never was truer than in the case of Ebbets. Just a trifle more than a year ago he was in financial straits; in such a plight that it was reported on several occasions that he would have to sell his club to satisfy creditors. How true these reports were, we cannot say with authority. But it cannot be denied that when the 1915 season began, Ebbets' wallet was so thin that it hardly could be noticed.

The outlook for 1915 was drearier than any other in the long history of the veteran magnate. His team did not size up at the outset as a pennant possibility. Patronage in the Dodger park promised to be the smallest in many years, first because the fans seemed to have lost interest in the game, second because the Dodgers weren't figured as a drawing card and third the Feds were entrenched in Brooklyn and were making a fight for popular favor.

"And right at that time," Ebbets told us, "I was assuming the burden of the biggest payroll I was ever called upon to meet. Practically every man on my roster was drawing from $1,000 to $4,500 more than in other years. The Federal League wanted my stars—and so did I. That meant I had to outbid them, and I assure you, those fellows certainly did boost their figures. But I met them. I didn't let one of my good players get away."

Ebbets Is Rewarded.

Soon after the 1915 season began, the clouds rolled back—and the sun began to shine through upon Ebbets. His team, to the surprise of the league, showed unexpected strength. It jumped away from the April barrier at a smashing clip and—on and on it went. Brooklyn fans, accustomed to seeing a sixth, seventh or eighth place club, woke up to the novelty of the situation—a Dodger club in a pennant fight.

The fans came out—in droves. The turnstiles clicked and clicked and continued clicking. The Dodgers, contrary to predictions, didn't skid in Junetime. They fingered among the leaders right into the October stretch. Not until then were they really beaten in the bunting race.

And the shekels poured in upon Ebbets as they will do upon any magnate whose club is in the race. Ebbets who had feared another huge financial setback when the season began, found at the end that not only had he cleared all expenses but that his books showed a neat profit. The Dodgers were one of the few clubs in the big leagues last season that cleared expenses.

Ebbets Coffers Filling.

Dame Fortune continues to smile upon Ebbets. Probably she figures that the veteran deserves a little reward at least for his 30 years of patience. The Dodgers as you probably have noticed, are in the thickest part of the 1916 pennant fracas. They have outdrawn other clubs on the road and they are averaging close to 10,000 a day at home, including the usual 25,000 Saturday crowd.

Large as was the Dodger home attendance last year, that of 1916 will go far beyond it. The Brooklyns during the first three months have played to almost as many folks as they did during the entire home attendance for 1915. At home and on the road they already have drawn almost three times as many fans as they did in the entire six months during the lean years.

If the Dodgers dropped out of the pennant fight right now, and didn't draw more than a few hundred fans per day for the rest of the season, Ebbets would finish ahead in a financial way, anyhow.

But over in Brooklyn they insist that you perish the thought of the Dodgers doing anything else than cop the rag. The natives figure it is an absolute cinch. And already the bugles of the bugs are sending in the congratulations for world series tickets. Whereupon, Charles Hercules Ebbets smiles, and murmurs:

"Them's my sentiments, boys."

Hot Liners.

Many a person in Chicago was late for dinner last night. You cannot expect to have dinner on time watching an 18-inning contest.

It was the longest game of the season and won by a home run.

The Giants believe they have chased the Polo Grounds jinx. They changed their bench quarters from first to back of third base. It proved a good omen. The Phillies were on the short end.

The victory also was a source of delight to McGraw's men because it caused the downfall of Demaree, who checked the Giants' winning streak.

New York is well represented this morning. The Yankees have jumped into the lead in the American, while the Dodgers still are out in front in the National.

The Tigers were forced into the second division by the Browns. Still they can get up to the top with a couple of victories.

The Nationals came to life, but it required the great Walter to pitch them to victory.

E. C. Reed and wife spent Tuesday in New York city.

Miss Mary E. Pillsbury of New York city has purchased the former Carl Scheppey house, barn and ten acres of land on Barclay Heights. She has taken possession and will devote her time to raising chickens and squabs. Miss Pillsbury is a sister of Mrs. William Mayham, of Washington avenue.

Frederick Myer of Allen street had his right hand severely bruised while handling a truck in the Marlin Cantine Company factory. Dr. Krom attended him.

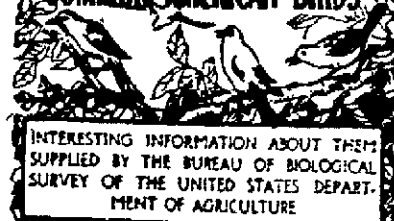

Oscar Snyder, former chauffeur for Dr. Diedling, is employed at the cement plant in Cementon.

The funeral of the late Florence McDonough was held on Tuesday morning at St. Mary's Church, Saugerties, and was largely attended by friends. The Sodality Girls of the church attended in a body. The Rev. James Talbot officiated. Interment was in St. Mary's cemetery.

Harry Lewis of New York is a guest of his father on Center street.

Mr. and Mrs. Caldwell Overbaugh of Norwich, Conn., are guests of their parents here.

Peter Wilson of Division street had his right hand injured on Monday, it being ripped open on a case in the Marlin Cantine Company factory. Dr. Diedling attended him.

FLICKER
(Colaptes auratus)

Length, thirteen inches. The yellow under surface of the wing, yellow tail shafts, and white rump are characteristic.

Range: Breeds in the eastern United States west to the plains and in the forested parts of Canada and Alaska; winters in most of the eastern United States.

Habits and economic status: The flicker inhabits the open country rather than the forest and delights in park-like regions where trees are numerous and scattered. It nests in any large cavity in a tree and readily appropriates an artificial box. It is possible, therefore, to insure the presence of this useful bird about the farm and to increase its numbers. It is the most terrestrial of our woodpeckers and procures much of its food from the ground. The largest item of animal food is ants, of which the flicker eats more than any other common bird. Ants were found in 524 of the 684 stomachs examined and 98 stomachs contained no other food. One stomach contained over 5,000 and two others held over 3,000 each. While bugs are not largely eaten by the flicker, one stomach contained 17 chinch bugs. Wild fruits are next to ants in importance in the flicker's dietary. Of these sour gum and wild black cherry stand at the head. The food habits of this bird are such as to recommend it to complete protection.

SAWKILL.
Sawkill, June 29.—The Rev. John P. Neumann, rector of St. Peter's Church, Rondout, and the Rev. George W. Warner, assistant rector, were visitors at St. Ann's rectory with their Ford car.

St. Ann's Society will hold their annual summer festival on Monday, July 3, at 8.30 p. m. Refreshments will be served. Floor manager, Harry Hulsair; assistants, John O'Brien and Charles McCaffrey, Jr. Music will be furnished by local talent, viz: Mrs. Tessie Carrigan, Thomas O'Brien, Miss Nellie O'Brien, Messrs. John and Peter Leahy.

The funeral of Mrs. Anna Leahy was largely attended with many floral tributes. The Rev. George J. Vaeth, rector, paid a glowing tribute to her manifold Christian charity and also the noblest benefactor to St. Ann's Church.

ENGINEERING FEATS BY SOLDIER BOYS

Difficulties in Loading Equipment at Rhinecliff Quickly Overcome and All in Readiness on Time—Train an Hour Late.

With whistles blowing and the band playing patriotic airs the ferry Transport left her slip at Rondout promptly at 8:30 o'clock with Company M on board bound for Rhinecliff and thence by train to Camp Whitman. The shores along the creek were lined black with people from the ferry slip down through Ponckhockie, and nearly every spectator was armed with an American flag, which they waved vigorously.

With the sun shining brightly the ferry with its warlike aspect presented a picture that never will be forgotten by those who lined the shores and who with straining eyes tried to pick out the forms of loved ones from among the gallant boys on board.

Murdock's Salute.
All the way across the river the band, headed by James S. Barber, Spanish War veteran, played patriotic airs. At the Cornell shops and at the gas company plant in Ponckhockie the shrill blast of the whistles cut the air to which the Transport responded. As the ferry neared the new lighthouse the lighthouse bell was tolled joyously while Old Glory was run up to the top of the pole. The lighthouse was gallantly decorated with the national colors and Keoper Murdock while tolling the bell found a chance to wave Old Glory with the other hand.

Friends on Other Side.
On the Rhinecliff side of the river the boys were met by a number of friends and relatives who had gone over on an earlier ferry so as to be in time to catch a last glimpse of them as the train bore them southward toward—only the future can foretell.

Bunting and flags waved gaily from the houses while the residents lined the roadway to the station and cheered the boys as they marched to the station.

Equipment Loaded.
At the station the main company deployed and were allowed to lay aside their guns and equipment while waiting for the train. In the meantime the camp equipment on three wagons in charge of Lieutenant Dittus made its way to the Slate dock, as it is known, where a box car and a flat car lay on the siding on which the camp equipment was to be stored.

It was a long journey, as a detour had to be made of over a mile before the heavily loaded wagons descended down a winding hill that led to the freight house.

"I wonder will we get a taste of hills like this in Mexico," remarked Private Wolfenstein, as he wiped the sweat from his brow.

As the wagons drew up to the freight station platform the detail in charge leaped from the wagon and willing hands had soon unloaded the equipment onto the platform where it was transferred with a rush into the box car. Only half of the box car was allotted to Company M, as the other half was to carry the equipment of the Poughkeepsie company, but it proved room enough with some skillful packing.

The Wagon Problem.
The problem then was to get the heavy army wagon upon the flat car.
The two other wagons used were part of the equipment of Expressman
Powell, and after being unloaded returned to town. The army wagon was loaded to its fullest capacity and easily weighed in the neighborhood of three tons.

Lieutenant Dittus, however, was equal to the occasion. Not in vain had he watched the circus load flat cars in Kingston. He had the team that drew the wagon unhitched and then a long chain was secured and attached to the side of the wagon and with the full strength of the detail moving the wagon rattled safely upon the station platform.

The question now was how to get the wagon onto the box car which was about level with the platform.
Boards were secured and nailed down tightly forming a bridge and the men with a will shoved the heavy wagon up onto the car and then made it fast.

By the time the equipment was loaded aboard the cars the soldiers were sweating freely, even though they had doffed their heavy coats and equipment.

Record time was made in loading the equipment aboard the cars, and the boys found that they still had plenty of time to spare as the train that was to carry them to Camp
Whitman was over an hour late.

They amused themselves by enjoying a smoke while waiting for the train to pick them up, preferring to sit down and rest while they could to the task of marching back a mile to the station where their comrades were waiting.

Almost a Mascot.
An amusing feature of the work was the antics of a stray pup that took a liking to the detail and followed behind the wagons until the freight station was reached. There the canine persisted in getting in the way, and uttered joyful yowls as he surveyed the busy scene.

So friendly was the dog that some of the members of the detail considered taking him along to the front as a mascot, but unfortunately the dog in the excitement following the arrival of the troop train was left behind in the shuffle. He followed behind the train for some distance, but dropped behind as the train got well under headway.

Back at the passenger station a gay sight was presented. The platform was crowded with relatives and friends gathered to bid the boys goodbye. The gay colored dresses of the women formed a bright background to the khaki uniforms of the soldiers.

Word reached the company that the train was an hour late and they piled their equipment here and there on the station platform while they conversed with friends and relatives.

Some of the boys had secured a baseball and amused themselves by playing "catch" until train time, while others munched on goodies and fruit that thoughtful friends had brought over with them anticipating that perhaps the train would be late, or that the boys would enjoy them on the way to camp.

All of the boys were in high good humor, and when several got together they broke into song singing a ditty composed by one of the musical geniuses of the company.

With the approach of the troop train the men hastily gathered up their equipment and with a last farewell handshake dropped into line.

Amid cheers and hearty goodbyes they marched aboard the troop train as it halted to receive them.

"On Our Way to Mexico."
On board the train were Company
E of Catskill and Company F of Hudson who were cheered heartily as the train drew into the station, and responded by singing vigorously.

"We Are On Our Way to Mexico!"
The song was set to a lively tune and the boys sang it as though they meant it.

It was to the accompaniment of soft falling tears which the women folks tried bravely to keep suppressed until the boys had gone that the troop train pulled out with the soldiers leaning far out of the car windows and from the car platforms waving their hats and throwing goodbye kisses to those left behind on the station platform.

Company M Notes.
While the departure of the boys was keenly felt by mothers, wives and sweethearts yet the boys were in unusually good spirits and by their actions and pranks showed that they intended to enjoy to the full whatever pleasure awaited them in camp and mayhaps border life.

Private Martin Netter as he sat on the station platform talking with some friends said "Well boys remember I expect to be detailed to go on a bunt for Old Man Carranza and when I catch him I will share off his whiskers and bring them back home as a slight remembrance of life at the front." Martin expects to take up serious study of Mexican life so that upon his return he will be able to stage the one act drama "Carranza's

COMPANY M CAMP WAGON.
This is not a picture of life on the prairies nor of a part of a Wild West show, but of Company M camp wagon at Rhinecliff this morning on its way to be loaded on a flat car for transportation to Camp Whitman, as described in another place in The Freeman.

Whiskers, or a Tragedy in Mexico." Martin is one of the best amateur actors in Ulster county and his friends expect great things from him in the dramatic line when he returns.

Private Arthur Mesereau says that he is glad of the opportunity of visiting Mexico as he has always wanted to taste real old fashioned Mexican cooking. He also expects to compose a poem during his absence that will rank him at the head of American poets. Knowing Arthur's genius along that line we can safely say that his poem will be well worth reading.

Corporal Edgar W. Harlow and Private Perry of The Freeman force said that the only thing that was worrying them was whether they would get a chance to find one of the silver mines in which it is rumored that Villa is hiding. They said that if they do they will form a stock company upon their return to work it.

Private LeRoy Hammond said that he was only hoping that the climate would not affect his singing voice as he expected to keep up his musical studies while at the front and also learn how to play some of the Mexican instruments.

Private Julian K. Canfield, who overheard him, said that if Roy thought he could keep up his musical studies he saw no reason why he could not do the same. Canfield is the possessor of a powerful bass voice. Some of the company basely insinuated that all it was necessary to do was to place Kenneth to sleep on the border line and his snoring would make the Mexicans think that the heavy artillery was beginning to get into action.

Private Lewis Short said that he expected to be detailed to climb the trees in Mexico to scout for the advance line of Mexicans. This he said was due to his training in climbing poles while in the employ of the electric company. Lewis is also some shot his friends say and expects to snipe a Mexican or two before returning home. At least he said he did.

Corporal Matty Benes said that the only thing that was worrying him was whether the Mexican tobacco was as good as the brand he had been used to handling while at work in town.

Private Frederick M. Snyder said he thought that he would use his spare time at the front to organize a company of Boy Scouts among the Mexican lads.

One of the most attractive groups, wishing Company M "God Speed," was that composed of the Kingston City Hospital nurses in their uniforms, each holding a large American flag, and all grouped on the upper terrace in front of the hospital on Broadway.

This must have been a marvelous busy morning at the Industrial Home, for a little before eight o'clock all of the boys and girls, even the little tots, were marching two by two, carrying American flags, over to Broadway near Chester street, where they were given a good place to see the soldiers march by.

Private Lester Wolf just before the train pulled in said, "Well the first Mexican I shoot I will send home by parcel post."

Charles Britt, who played the bass drum in Muller's band today, has made application as drummer in the Tenth Regiment Band.

Private Richard Dawe, Jr., who has been employed by the New York Telephone Company before he decided to go to the front, is thinking of looking over the country in Mexico with an idea of laying out a branch telephone line from Mexico City to Kingston. Then he expects to invite his friends in town to enjoy a Kingston-Mexico City talk. Private Dawe is also a singer of ability, and he and Corporals Pfenthaber and Geeshwinder said they thought that when they reached the Mexican capital they would take over the opera house as their share of the proceeds and devote some time to educating the company in good music.

There were a number of other instructive thoughts evoked by the members, but just then the troop train pulled in and amid the racket of cheers it was impossible for the writer to make out what was said.

But before closing this brief chronicle of the day, it should be noted that Corporal Harry Costello had had his hair cut a "dead rabbit." He said that he had heard that here was considerable hot air in Mexico, and he believed in being prepared.

HIGHLAND.

Highland, June 29.—Last Sunday evening at the M. E. Church there was held a most interesting service, giving all a description of work done at the Sunday school convention held in Albany, over a week ago. The church was beautifully decorated, being the stars under which we were born, beam with bright promise and kindly lofty hopes. Then there were roses and peonies everywhere, making it a bower of beauty. Mr. and Mrs. Metcalf and Mr. and Mrs. Silliman were Methodist delegates from here and gave a very interesting account of the work. There were over 5,000 people attended and 1,200 delegates reported at the convention. The pastor, the Rev. J. C. Coddington, offered prayer. The music was fine. Pine organ, with Mrs. Kelsey Staples and the orchestra, made the music well worth listening to, and it was a service that everyone enjoyed.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Clinton have had as their guests the past week their son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Noah Clinton, who reside in Croton. Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Bray and son of New York were at their home on Vineyard avenue for the week end.

Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Lent had as their guest for the week end, their son, Richard, who is at present employed in Saugerties. He enjoys coming to Highland among his friends and taking auto trips through the country.

Funeral services of the late Mrs. Benjamin Johnson were held from the home of deceased last Friday afternoon, where many friends met to pay the last tribute of respect to one who had by her many good qualities endeared herself to all. She was a loving wife, daughter and mother, and will be missed in the home and by her many friends. She had been ill for some time, but it was hoped that by her going to the hospital and having an operation her days would be lengthened. Such was not to be. Her pastor, the Rev. J. C. Coddington, of the M. E. Church, who had called on her, frequently, officiated, and spoke most beautifully of her character and life. She leaves to mourn her loss her father, James Oakley, her husband and two young sons. The floral display was beautiful consisting of polka-wreaths, heart, cross and numerous flat bouquets, showing the high esteem in which she was held. She was a member of the M. E. Church, also the Ladies' Auxiliary Church and was always willing to do whatever lay in her power for the church. The community at large expressed their sympathy to the bereaved family. The interment was in Highland cemetery, under the direction of W. E. Wilcox.

The Auxiliary Club will hold their regular meeting in the church parlor on Friday, July 7th, at which time the election of officers for the year will take place. It is desired by the committee that all members come out and do not forget to bring your dues along, for that will save the collectors much traveling.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Miller motored to Modena last Saturday evening and attended an entertainment given by the school there to purchase books for their library. It was well attended and was first class in every respect. They had many good things to eat and drink on sale and realized a good sum of money for their cause.

Daughters of America will hold their regular meeting Wednesday evening, July 5, at which time it is earnestly requested that all members come out. There will be something to attract and work to do. Remember the time.

Mrs. Ely and daughter, Dorothy, have gone to their New York home. They have been stopping with the Moultes at the Pines for some time. Floral decorations were beautiful for commencement exercises. Glass colors, yellow and white, and the church presented a beautiful picture.

W. E. Wilcox was a business visitor in New York city last week. Mrs. John Graham of Connecticut and her little daughter, spent a week here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Myron Terpening. She returned last Saturday and her sister, Esther, accompanied her for a visit.

Mr. and Mrs. George Auchmoody of Washington avenue are at present entertaining their daughter and children from Long Island.

Mrs. Andrew Wright Lent had a guest from Poughkeepsie for the week end.

Ernest Gerlich of Wilcox avenue has been quite ill. Glad to report he is out with the children once more.

The baccalaureate sermon was preached in the Presbyterian Church last Sunday morning by Rev. G. H. Schofield, their pastor. The graduates were about all present. The rain made it unpleasant and in fact school so well established and maintained by this generous community, and may they realize that all they have done as a pupil has been through the influence of their teachers. Diplomas were presented to them by Principal Marsh, who spoke most beautifully of their work, and Friday and remained until Sunday. They were guests of the Hovet and Dedrick families on Maple avenue. William Christensen has returned after spending a week most delightfully in New York city.

Mr. and Mrs. William Dickson and son, Arthur, of Albany have been the guests of Mrs. Benjamin Johnson, Sr., for a short time.

Mr. and Mrs. George Winans of Poughkeepsie were guests of Mrs. George A. Mans, Sr., last week.

The U. D. Society were entertained at the home of Mrs. Abram Wilklow Saturday last. All spent a pleasant afternoon.

The Presbyterian people held a strawberry and ice cream party on the church lawn last Saturday evening. The weather was not very favorable, little too cold to sit outside and partake of ice cream. The band played a few selections and we noticed quite a few came to hear the music but did not seem to linger long. Warm weather seems to be the article required for these sort of fetes and they are not as well attended as a few years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Jere Miller of Poughkeepsie were guests of relatives here last Sunday.

Miss Corbett of Washington avenue is home for the summer. She is employed at Vassar College.

Mrs. Almira Freer has been on a visit among relatives in Albany.

Miss Hertha Huson has been spending a few days here with friends. Her sister, Thelma, who has been a student in high school here, has returned to her home at Towns.

We see Mr. Randall, the Long Island real estate dealer, here. He is staying at the Pines for a short time. The Moultes, of the Pines, have a number of guests. If the weather should remain clear and get warm the resort will be filled to overflowing. People who go there for one year, seem to always return and bring others with them, for it is a delightful spot.

Mrs. Martin Upright was hostess to the Queen Esther Circle Saturday afternoon. The ladies worked, talked and had fine refreshments. They enjoyed the meeting and said they transacted quite some business.

Tuesday evening Highland streets gave every evidence of a city by the great number of automobiles, who had disposed of their occupants at M. E. Church, where great numbers went for commencement exercises of the Highland high school. The church was packed, seats in aisles, and standing room at a premium. A fine program was rendered. There were 14 in the graduating class, only 3 being of the male sex.

The board of education was present, also the pastors of both churches, the Rev. J. C. Coddington, pastor of the M. E. Church offering prayer. There were selections on the pipe organ, also an orchestra. The welcome was given by Henry T. Hart, also the declamation by William G. Terwilliger. The solo by Miss Silliman, piano duet by Misses Scott and Miner, recitation by Miss Sutton and valedictory oration by Miss Shay, showed that whether you handled a set of books, a pick or pen, you must work, and they have worked hard for four years, and now they wait their turn to enter greater fields stretched before them. R. E. Coon gave a grand address to the class, picturing to them the other fellow's view point, and nothing will remove from their minds the remembrance of all the faculty have done for them, and of the bright school days spent as classmates and teachers together. Parents and friends have watched the progress of these people year by year and the encouragement of Principal Marsh spurred them on to higher endeavor and stronger effort, and it is hoped these graduates may become the members of society worthy of the school so well established and maintained by this generous community, and may they realize that all they have done as a pupil has been through the influence of their teachers. Diplomas were presented to them by Principal Marsh, who spoke most beautifully of their work, and of the bright and promising opportunities for their future. The class of 1916 should realize that this is a great country, and great are the advantages to enjoy in the present form of school government, and remember your four years has been a preparatory course for a greater school. Your training demands you to do your duty and God demands you to do your best. Labor on, never unprepared, and let the class feeling of true friendship and sympathy never cease. Every member received beautiful gifts that they will prize greatly, and the bouquets of roses and carnations were simply exquisite, and the little girls who carried them to the front looked like fairies. It was indeed an affair that the Highland people may feel elated over, and all hope that it is the beginning of a happy and prosperous future that has been thought of day by day, and dreamed of by night.

WALKER VALLEY.
Walker Valley, June 29.—Miss Elsie Mead of Geneva, N. Y., who has been several weeks with her nurse, Mrs. J. C. Depew, is gaining very fast.

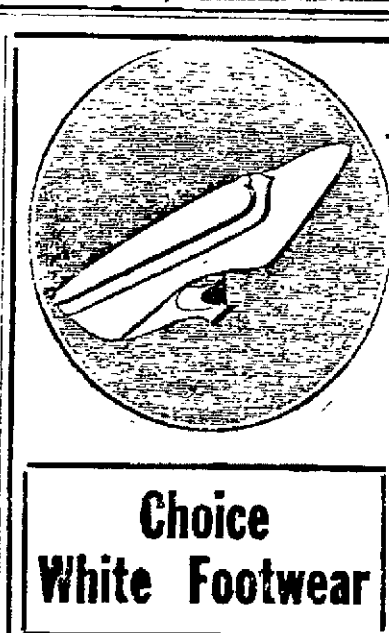

Mr. and Mrs. James Blythe and little daughter of Brooklyn, who have been stopping for summer vacation the past four summers at the Walker Valley House, came up last week for their vacation.

Word was received on Sunday that Mrs. Albert Cole was very ill. Mrs. Anson Polhamus and little son came up Sunday for a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Polhamus.

Mrs. Ida Lockwood of Middletown is visiting Mrs. C. D. Buckridge. Mrs. J. C. Depew went to Summitville for a few weeks.

Robert DeWitt, who is painting in Middletown, spent Monday with his mother.

MATTERS BEFORE THE SURROGATE

The will of Jacob Kieffer of Lake Katrine has been admitted to probate by Surrogate Gill in the surrogate's court today. The testator gives all his estate to his wife, Jane Carl Kieffer, except three wood lots, of which she is given the life use and at her death the wood lots are devised to his sons, David and Albert Kieffer. The wife and son, David Kieffer, are appointed executors. The will was executed May 6, 1916, and witnessed by J. DePuy Hasbrouck and Henry R. DeWitt. The value of the real estate is $4,000 and the personal property amounts to $500. An order was also granted appointing Supervisor Frank M. Brink and Franklin Snyder appraisers of the estate. Henry R. DeWitt appeared for the executors.

The matter of the judicial settlement of the estate of E. J. R. Clarke, as executor of the estate of Senator Linson, was adjourned to July 3. Howard Chipp appeared for the executor; Frank W. Brooks appeared for Ernest J. Linson, and Everett Fowler as special guardian for Paul Linson, an infant.

PORT EWEN.

Port Ewen, June 29.—Mrs. Martin Schleede and daughters, Mildred and Ethel, of Riverside avenue, went to Jersey City on Wednesday morning to attend the funeral services of Mrs. Schleede's grandmother.

Mid-week prayer and praise services will be held in the Reformed and Methodist churches this evening at 7:30 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Schopman and son, Frederick, of Jersey City are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Mead Davis on Main street.

Anyone wishing to contribute to the Soldiers' Relief Fund will hand their contributions to Mrs. Ella Fairbrother and Mrs. Anna Secor, who have been appointed a committee for Port Ewen. (Spons. Council, No. 42, Sons and Daughters of Liberty, have already started this fund. The committee will gladly receive contributions from individuals and organizations.)

A tennis club was organized Wednesday evening under the name of the Port Ewen Tennis Club of the Reformed Church. The following officers were elected: President, Travis Gillette; vice president, Sylvanus Van Aken; secretary, Roland Niece, and treasurer, John R. Monroe. All persons in this place interested in tennis are invited to join the club and can do so by handing their name to the Rev. H. L. Scheffer or any member of the club.

Mohonk Defeats New Paliz.

Mohonk Lake, June 29.—Church III was too much for New Paliz here Tuesday. He held the visitors to four hits, two of which came in one inning, bringing in their lone tally. The game, while not especially exciting, was a very close one, as scores at times were pretty flat on both sides. Caswell was hit opportunely. The score:

Church of the Comforter.

Sunday morning the senior and junior classes of the Bible school who have joined or wish to join the Church Attendance League are urged to be present at the preaching service. The minister will have an extra supply of pledge cards, buttons and sermon text books for those who could not be supplied two weeks ago.

Sunday evening a patriotic service will be held with an appropriate sermon. The P. O. S. A. P. O. of A. and G. A. R. have been invited to attend in a body. The church will be appropriately decorated with the Stars and Stripes and the public is invited.

The annual picnic of the Bible school and church will be held in Evergreen Park on Friday, July 7.

Bigelow at Beefsteak Dinner.

Twenty-five Kingston men were guests of Proprietor E. B. Miller of The Roxmor, Woodland, at a complimentary beefsteak dinner at that place Wednesday evening. County Judge James Jenkins was chosen toastmaster, and addresses were made by Pontney Bigelow of Malden-on-Hudson, Samuel H. Chabonet, president of the Universal Road Machinery Company, F. J. R. Clarke, president of the National Trust Company Bank, and Elbert F. MacFadden. Mr. Bigelow spoke of the European war and the German Kaiser, of whom he was a schoolmate.

MUCH INTEREST IN Y. M. C. A. BOYS' CAMP

Along with the enthusiasm and interest aroused over the financial campaign for $5,000, is the interest awakened in the boys' department about camp. Applications are coming in from Accord, Saugerties and Fishling, Long Island. Red Fox James, a real Indian scout of the Blood tribe of Montana, will be at Camp Anawana from July 8th to July 15th. He will teach scouting, woodcraft and will conduct hikes every day. "Gus" Bonesteel will take care of the "cats" and "Gus" knows how to do that.

Among the attractions are: No mosquitoes, good fishing and swimming, camp fire, minerals at Monticello and a general all-round good fellowship. Applications may be obtained at the boys' department of the Y. M. C. A. Camp Anawana will provide a safe and healthful vacation for your boy.

ELLENVILLE.

Ellenville, June 29.—The following program as prepared was given at the high school commencement exercises at the school auditorium Tuesday evening and each number received merited applause. Upon the stage with the class members, Sarah Alice Brown, George D. Cook, Edward Javenport, Joseph G. Fieseler, Raymond H. Fleckenstein, Deyo W. Johnson, Robert W. Keeler, Leo J. Larkin, Lily S. Levitt, Clyde B. Merwin, Harry D. Moore, Samuel K. Munson, Joe Rosenthal, Samuel Standard, Percy D. Terwilliger, Paul Westbrook, were Superintendent W. F. Harris, Principal R. W. Thompson, members of the high school faculty and the board of Education, Rev. W. S. Maines and Rev. W. H. Moser. The stage at the front was elaborately in its floral decorations of the class colors in flowers of ferns and the golden daisy, while the class flowers, the yellow rose was conspicuous in vases about the room. Much can be said in praise of program for it was not as too often lengthy.

Miss Ella Haight is over at Brunswick to attend the wedding of her niece.

The wedding of Miss Edith Gillman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Gillman of Maiden Lane, Ellenville to Joseph Egan of Elmira, took place at St. Mary's R. C. Church, Tuesday morning, at 8:30 o'clock. They were attended by the bride's brother and sister, William and Miss Anna Gillman. The bride wore her traveling gown of blue cloth with white hat and the attendant, Miss Anna, was dressed in blue, while the groom and groomsmen wore the conventional black. The wedding march was played by the bride's aunt, Mrs. William D. Cunningham. There were no guests, except the family, but a number of the bride's friends attended the ceremony at which Rev. Thomas Donoherty officiated. Following the wedding, a breakfast was given at the bride's home, and the young people left for a wedding trip and then to Elmira where they are to reside. The bride is a graduate of the Ellenville High School and of Albany Normal College and for the past two years has been engaged in teaching at Lavonia, New York. The groom is a prominent business man of Elmira. Ellenville friends extend hearty congratulations.

ALL WENT HAPPILY UNTIL "14" RANG

It Was a Happy Family Life Until the Fire Bell Rang Calling Son-in-law to Colors—Then Trouble Started—Recorder Lang Assists Girl Bride.

The issuing of a search warrant on Wednesday afternoon by Recorder Lang brought to light a tragic romance of the present war crisis, and the objection raised by Mrs. Carrie Markle, of Foxhall avenue to her son-in-law going to war. Her daughter, Edna, married Private Arthur Tubby of Company M about a week before the fatal "14" rang and struck on the fire bell, and the happy couple went to live with the bride's mother. All went merrily until "14" rang, according to the story the girl bride told the recorder.

When her husband responded to the call the bride found herself in hot water, as her mother refused to allow her to go to the armory to see her husband. But love always has a way and the young couple met. Later the bride went to live with her husband's folks.

Still later her husband demanded his wife's wedding presents from Mrs. Markle, who refused to give them up. Thereupon the wife paid a visit on Wednesday to Recorder Lang, with the result that a search warrant was issued and placed in the hands of Sergeant Hanley, who, together with the bride, paid a visit on her mother, and secured the presents, which reposed over night in the city hall.

This morning there was no appearance on the part of Mrs. Markle and Recorder Lang awarded the custody of the goods to the daughter, who left later happy in the possession of her wedding presents.

SOCIETY NOTES.

Freiligh-Post.

Miss Julia S. Post of No. 35 Henry street, and George S. Freiligh of Jersey City, were united in marriage on Wednesday afternoon at the parsonage of the Church of the Comforter by the pastor, the Rev. W. F. Stowe. Wesley R. Freiligh, a brother of the groom, was best man, and Miss Clara Short was bridesmaid. Mr. and Mrs. Freiligh will reside in Jersey City. They have a host of friends who wish them a happy and prosperous married life.

Crawford-Williams.

A large number of relatives and friends gathered at the home of Edward P. Williams at Newburgh Wednesday to witness the wedding of his daughter, Edith, to Virgil Crawford of Middletown, N. Y. The ceremony was performed by the pastor, Rev. M. S. Purdy, assisted by Rev. P. N. Chase, Ph.D., of Kingston, a former pastor of the family. The presents were numerous and costly. After a short wedding trip the parties will reside in Middletown.

MacDaniel-Van Ethen.

Albert Wilbur MacDaniel and Anna Ethel Van Ethen were married at Woodstock Tuesday evening, June 27, by the Rev. H. W. Frink, pastor of the Reformed Church. The wedding march was played on the piano by Miss Myra Lasher. The wedding was at the home of the bride, the colonial stone residence, long the home of the Van Ethen family. They were attended by Ignatius A. Snyder, of Kingston, as best man, and Miss Edith Van Ethen, a sister of the bride, as bridesmaid. The bride was given away by her brother, Alfred Van Ethen. On their return from an extensive wedding tour, they will reside at Mr. MacDaniel's spacious new residence at Bearsville.

Their Thirty-fifth Anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. James Draffen of No. 44 West Union street, celebrated the thirty-fifth anniversary of their marriage on Wednesday. That evening they were entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Van Deusen, No. 294 East Union street, where a reception came as a total surprise. The evening was delightfully spent and a fine musical program was rendered. The house was artistically decorated with roses, carnations and ferns in honor of the occasion, and refreshments were served. At a late hour the guests departed for their homes, wishing the happy couple many more anniversaries. A pleasant feature of the event was the presence of Mr. and Mrs. Draffen's three children at the reception.

Buckbee-Elling.

The charming home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward N. Winter on Warren street, was the scene at noon today of a simple, impressive June wedding, when Miss Edith Mary Elling became the bride of Albert Wisner Buckbee of Wisner, N. Y. The home was beautifully decorated with mountain laurel, June roses and many old-fashioned June blossoms. The ceremony was performed underneath a bower of laurel and convolvulus, by the Rev. Frank B. Seeley, pastor of the Fair Street Reformed Church. The bride, who has been for the past few years one of the favorite teachers at No. 7 school, was charming in a gown of white and carried pink roses. Her attendant was her sister, Miss Clara Elling. The best man was William Buckbee of Ithaca, a brother of the groom. The immediate families of the bride and groom and a few most intimate friends enjoyed a wedding luncheon served by Mrs. Elling, following the ceremony. A mass of pink and white snapdragons wreathed with laurel with clusters of laurel at each corner, adorned the bridal table, while vases of pink and white larkspur formed the decorations for the other tables. Following the luncheon Mr. and Mrs. Buckbee left town for their honeymoon, intending to make their home at Wisner, N. Y., on the large farm homestead. They took with them the very best wishes from a wide circle of friends. The guests from out of town were Mrs. Buckbee, Mrs. Wisner, Miss Annie Buckbee, Miss Wisner, Miss Frances Buckbee, Henry Buckbee and Wisner Buckbee, all of Wisner; Mrs. Schumacher of Brooklyn, Mrs. Elvora Champlin and Charles Champlin of Highland.

Davis-Bishop.

Wednesday evening the home of Mrs. Elizabeth A. Bishop on Downs street was the scene of a very pretty wedding when her daughter, Edna, became the bride of Harvey J. Davis of this city. Everywhere were quantities of mountain laurel and roses, and at eight o'clock, with Miss Mabel Raichie at the piano, the bridal party proceeded to an arch of daisies, banked with mountain laurel and palms, where the ceremony was performed. The Rev. George M. Cranston of the Clinton Ave. M. E. church officiated, the ever-beautiful ring service being used. The bride, who was given away by her uncle, Alvah R. Elmendorf, was charming in white crepe meteor, her veil caught with pearls and fine rosebuds. She carried a bouquet of white Killarney roses and yarrowgrass. Her only attendant was her sister, Miss Ethel Bishop, who wore pale blue tulle over taffeta of the same shade, and carried pink Killarney roses. Mrs. Elizabeth A. Bishop, the bride's mother, wore pearl gray taffeta under georgette crepe. The best man was Lester C. Elmendorf, a cousin of the bride, and the ushers were Cornelius Bishop, the bride's brother, and Harry Elmendorf. Following the ceremony a wedding supper was served by the Kenney sisters. During the evening the bride and groom left for an extended journey through-out the east. The bride received many handsome gifts, among them being several checks and numerous pieces of cut glass and silver. Among the out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. William Winne, of Irvington, N. Y., the Misses Sadie and May Garrison of Big Indian, Mr. and Mrs. George Klinek of Brooklyn, Stephen H. Hart of Irvington, H. C. Winne of Stamford, Conn., Mrs. Lauretta Short, Mr. and Mrs. L. Short and daughter and Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Short, all of Wittenberg. The bride was a member of the 1912 class of Kingston Academy and the young couple take with them the best wishes of a large circle of friends. On their return to Kingston they will reside at No. 106 O'Neil street, where they will be at home after August first.

Cameron-Sullivan.

The attractive home of Mr. and Mrs. N. J. Sullivan was the scene of an impressive June wedding on Wednesday evening at six o'clock, when Miss Margaret Elizabeth Sullivan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sullivan, became the bride of Merton Kirk Cameron of Northeast, Maryland. Miss Gertrude Rafferty played the Bridal Chorus from Lohengrin, as the bridal party passed through the parlor to the library where roses, carnations, sweet peas, palms, ferns and hanging baskets formed a picturesque background for the wedding ceremony, which was performed by the Very Reverend Dean Hickey, rector of St. Mary's Church. During the ceremonial, Miss Rafferty played softly, "O Promise Me," and Mendelssohn's Wedding March during the receiving of congratulations. Mrs. W. J. Leary added much to the impressiveness of the occasion by her singing of "Beloved It Is Mine," by Elvord. Just before the departure of the bride and groom, Mrs. Leary sang "Perfect Day," which seemed especially appropriate.

The bride was lovely in a bridal robe of white satin, trimmed with tulle and with court train. Her veil was draped from a cap of Dutchess lace and she carried a shower bouquet of bride roses and lilies-of-the-valley. Miss Edith Sullivan, a sister of the bride, was the maid of honor and was charmingly gowned in lavender tulle over pink crepe de chine, trimmed with silver lace. She wore a cap of lavender tulle and lace trimmed with sweetheart roses, and carried an armful of pink rosebuds. The best man was Kenneth Sullivan, a brother of the bride.

The bride is a well known and artistic reader and teacher of expression and elocution, having delighted many audiences in this city. She is a K. A. graduate and also a graduate of the Emerson School of Oratory, Boston. The groom is a graduate of Tome Academy, Maryland, of Princeton and of Harvard University, where he is now an instructor. Mr. and Mrs. Cameron took a late train for their wedding journey, following which they will make their home at Mr. Cameron's summer home at Northeast, Maryland, until September, when they will return to Cambridge. Only the immediate relatives and friends of the bride and groom witnessed the ceremony. Among the out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Nadins, John Nadins, Miss Dorothy Nadins of Barrytown, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Johnston and family of Brooklyn; Miss Mary Kinsella of Troy, and Miss Mildred O'Mally of Albany.

Did She Throw Water.

Mrs. Mary Fitzgerald of No. 49 Ponckheke street, was arrested on Wednesday afternoon on a warrant sworn out by her neighbor, Mrs. Volk, who claimed that Mrs. Fitzgerald threw water over her. According to Mrs. Volk's story, she had gone out into the yard to throw some ashes into the barrel, when Mrs. Fitzgerald leaned out of a window and threw some water on her. This morning Mrs. Fitzgerald appeared before Recorder Lang, accompanied by Judge Stephan, and pleaded not guilty. Some testimony was taken and an adjournment was taken to secure more testimony, and also to give Mrs. Volk an opportunity to secure a lawyer. The matter will be thrashed out a week from Friday.

DAY'S WAR NEWS AT A GLANCE

Vienna—Austrian torpedo boats Germans storm Russian position on bounard Italian coast.

Berlin—British attacks repulsed; Paris—All German attacks at Verdun repulsed by French.

THREE-FIFTHS OF GOAL IS REACHED

First Place in Y. M. C. A. Campaign—What Will Kingston do for Welfare of Youth in Next 24 Hours?

One more day in the Y. M. C. A. campaign to raise $5,000 for current expenses for the year ending May, 1917. At the close of the noon meeting the report showed 116 subscriptions and $1,138 for today. The question is:

"Will the people of Kingston who are interested in the welfare of young men and boys subscribe the balance before tomorrow night?"

Someone asks, "Why do they want this money?" The answer is, it is the difference between the amount received for dormitory rentals, membership dues and the actual cost of maintaining the association for one year. Students in college do not fully pay for the advantages received. If they did, many would be barred from a college education, and the same is true of the Y. M. C. A., the actual cost per member and the amount paid are two different items. The difference must be provided by those who believe in the character building work of the association and recognize its value to the community affect directly or indirectly the home, business and institutions of the city.

The eighty business men who are enrolled in the teams ask the people of Kingston to respond quickly and generously to complete this fund by tomorrow night. Send or telephone the amount you are willing to give to the association office or give to any of the workers.

The summary of the report today shows:

CARRIZAL CAPTIVES ARRIVE AT JUAREZ

By Telegram to The Freeman.
El Paso, Tex., June 29.—The train carrying the 23 American prisoners captured by Mexicans in the Carrizal engagement, reached Juarez at 11:50 today.

Mexican officials immediately began preparations to formally deliver the prisoners to the American army officers at the international bridge which connects the two cities.

MORE WATER NOW AT CAMP WHITMAN

Hope to Have Supply For Tenth Regiment by Friday—Regiment Expected Late This Afternoon—Sixty-Ninth Ordered to the Border.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Camp Whitman, Beekman, N. Y., June 29.—Brig-General John G. Eddy will be received with a guard of honor and a salute of 11 guns when he arrives here to take command of the camp at 3 p. m. today. The salute will be fired by the two batteries of the First Field Artillery camped here.

Col. Lucas and his staff, who is now in command, and the commanding officers of all the other regiments here will be assembled at division headquarters to receive General Eddy. After the reception Col. Lucas will turn over the command of the post to General Eddy.

General Eddy and his staff will be met at the Poughkeepsie station where they are scheduled to arrive at 2:28 p. m., by Captain Walsh, regimental adjutant of the 22nd regiment and Lieut. Thomas Crimmins, also of the 22nd, in Col. Lucas' car, which will bring them to camp. Col. Lucas will also send two other cars for General Eddy's staff.

Col. Lucas announced that the water system will be in operation at 6 p. m. The regiments for which the water will be available to-night are the 22nd, 3rd and headquarters.

Tenth Expected Late.

The 65th of Buffalo, which arrived here this morning, 800 strong, under command of Col. Charles E. P. Babcock and the Tenth Regiment from Albany, which will be here late this afternoon, will have their water on tap probably tomorrow.

The two batteries of artillery, the 69th and the hospital units, will have to continue drawing their supply from wells and springs for the present. A well was driven in the camp of the First Infantry this morning which struck water at a depth of 47 feet, yielding at the rate of 25,000 gallons a day. The engineers say the flow can be increased to a million gallons a day by going a little deeper. The amount of water allowed each man per day for the present will be five gallons. This will be increased to 20 gallons as soon as the shower baths, which are being erected at every camp, are in operation.

Ten Thousand in Camp.

The number of men now in camp is 9,131 and this will be increased to over ten thousand when the Tenth puts in this afternoon.

Col. Conley of the 59th Regiment received orders today to leave for the border as soon as the muster of the regiment is completed. This will not be before Sunday the colonel said. News that the 69th was to go to the front was received with the wildest demonstrations of delight by the fighting Irishmen who have been watching with impatience the departure of other regiments for the border. There has been considerable dissatisfaction on the part of both officers and men over the delay in getting away, but this was all changed today when definite word was received that they were to go as soon as they could be got ready.

The 65th, which left Buffalo at 6 p. m. Wednesday, arrived here about ten this morning. Three hundred recruits were left in the armory to await the arrival of equipment, after which they will be brought here.

The First Battalion of the 22nd, which has been under orders to leave for Brownsville, Tex., for several days, has not yet received their equipment for which it has been waiting, and will not get away today.

He leaves four sisters, Mrs. Birmingham, Mrs. Bernard Murray of Kingston, Mrs. William Goldsbaugh of New York and Miss Jane Higgins, and two brothers, Michael and William Higgins of New York. The funeral arrangements will be announced later.

Henry Hazzard, aged 85 years, one of Torrington's oldest soldiers, died at 7 o'clock Tuesday night at his home in West Torrington, Conn., of the Norfolk road. Stricken only a short time before his death in his first illness of his long career on earth, he quickly succumbed. He was born October 10, 1830, in Dover, Dutchess county, N. Y., and was a veteran of Company H, 120th Regiment, New York Volunteers, having served with that organization in the Civil War. January 20, 1860, he was married to Cloy Charlotte Castel and lived in Rondout and vicinity for a number of years; then moved to Connecticut 36 years ago, where they lived at the time he died. He was a kind husband and loving father and will be greatly missed by his wife and one daughter, Mrs. J. R. Mowell, of Cherry street, and three grandchildren and five great-grandchildren. Funeral was held at his late home Thursday morning at 10 o'clock. Services over the remains were conducted by the Rev. E. H. Burt of West Torrington Church. Burial was in the South Torrington cemetery. A number of Civil War veterans, attended as did the bugler from Company M, who sounded taps. The pall bearers were Irving E. Deyo, George Carter, Frank Mowell, H. Earl Mowell, Charles Lambson, Henry Nell. The family have the heartfelt sympathy of all.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By Telegram to The Freeman.
New York, June 29.—As a result of the Mexican news buying orders were in the market long before the opening today and when the gong sounded, there was a wild scramble to buy stocks, especially those which had been under pressure during the last few days. It was hard to make an official opening for Mexican Petroleum. The committee was called on, and it took them fifteen minutes to reach a decision when the official opening was made 8,000 shares from 101 to 100, against 91 at the close yesterday. Almost at the same time large transactions were made in different parts of the crowd around 95. It also took some time to fix the opening in Steel Common. The initial transactions were finally fixed at 13.000 shares from 86 to 85 1/2, against 84 1/2 at the close yesterday. There was a wide opening in Marine Preferred, which sold at 92, a gain from 88 1/2 at the close yesterday. There was an urgent demand for stocks for both long and short account. Gains in the leading issues ranged from 2 to 3 points. Industrial Alcohol rose 3 points to 140, American Smelting 3 1/2 to 94 1/2, U. S. Smelting and Refining 4 points to 70, Butte and Superior 4 points to 70 1/2, and American Beet Sugar 3 1/2 to 89 1/2. Reading showed an initial gain of 3 points to 98 1/2. After the first sales business was transacted at 1 to 2 points below the high level.

In the late forenoon a substantial supply appeared in many issues, and prices declined about 3 points from the early high level. There was a large crowd in Mexican Petroleum, which reached to 27 1/2. Marine Preferred receded to 90 1/2. Steel Common to 85 1/2. Industrial Alcohol to 137 1/2, and Reading, after selling at 98 1/2, declined to 96 1/2. Maxwell Motor, after an initial gain of 6 1/2 points to 87, declined to 82 1/2. Similar recessions after early advances were noted throughout the general list. Sales of stocks to noon were 326,300 shares; bonds $1,500,000. Money loaning at 2 1/2 per cent.

The tone and price movements in the late afternoon were mixed. With some issues in good demand and rallied easily after declines, while others were pressed for sale and found little support. Industrial Alcohol sold down to 133. Reading advanced constantly, a rally to 97 1/2 being followed by a decline to 95 1/2. Steel Common sold down to 84 1/2. Inspiration Copper was exceptionally strong, advancing more than a point to 50 1/2.

The tone of the close was strong. The leading issues were in quiet demand in the late trading, with Marine preferred advancing to above 92. Steel common, after selling at 84 1/2, rallied about a point. Upstairs after recessions were noted in all the list, Industrial Alcohol was exceptionally heavy, and recovered only part of its late points decline. Government bonds unchanged; railway and other bonds irregular.

FARM BUREAUS LEAD GREAT MOVEMENT

Speaking before the annual meeting of the New York State Feed Dealers' Association at Albany on June 22, M. C. Burritt, State Director of Farm Bureaus, not only maintained the right but declared it to be the obligation of farm bureaus as farmers' organizations to assist farmers in co-operatively organizing to protect themselves against unfair methods and too high charges in the handling of farm supplies. He based his argument both upon the protection of the producers and upon the interests of consumers of farm products in farm efficiency.

Mutual Interests Involved.
He stated that the two chief savings in co-operative buying are purchasing in large quantities to get the lower cost price and paying cash to avoid the credit charge, and declared that the local dealer who is able to give farmers the advantage of these two factors has no reason to fear co-operative organization among farmers. Co-operation arises out of necessity rather than choice. With these advantages denied them, farmers have the alternative of accepting a too limited profit due to the high cost of supplies or of combining to protect themselves against certain low profits and probable eventual bankruptcy. The speaker showed that it is in the interests of the dealers in farm supplies who are an essential part of rural communities as well as of farmers, that the men on whom the nation's food supply depends, be prosperous.

Farm Efficiency the Object.
Because their immense agricultural resources are unorganized and have not kept pace with the growth of their populations, Mr. Burritt asserted that India and China are subject to famines and one-half to two-thirds of their population is required to feed the remainder. In America the efficiency of farmers is such that one-third of the total population now feeds the other two-thirds. The whole will yet be fed by a fifth or a sixth and the remainder be released to trade and manufacture.

No small part of this efficiency, the speaker claimed, is due to the efforts of the agricultural colleges and experiment stations, whose work is now being more widely extended and applied locally by the farm bureaus. There are now thirty-six of these bureaus supported by 13,000 members. The demonstration method is used extensively and 27,000 farmers were thus reached this last year. More than 4,000 farmers co-operated with the bureaus in conducting field tests and demonstrations.

Co-operation of all Rural Forces Needed.
"We are in the advance guard of a new forward movement in eastern agriculture in which the farm bureaus are supplying the leadership and the organization as it was never supplied before," the speaker continued. "The progressive spirit which now possesses conservative eastern farmers will not be satisfied with anything short of a rural organization in production. In the purchase of supplies and in the distribution and marketing of their products, which will give farmers the adequate compensation which their labor and investment demands. We want and expect the co-operation of all rural forces to this end, the advantages of which will be mutual and permanent."

MENKE'S DAILY SPORTING LETTER

(By Frank G. Menke).
New York, June 29.—After more than 30 years of patience, Charlie Ebbets at last is beginning to collect bulky dividends on his baseball investment.
Shortly after Noah's ark anchored on the mount, the "Squire of Brooklyn" began to dabble in baseball. Since somewhere along in the early 80's, he has been a magnate. Year after year he risked his bankroll by tying it up in a ball club. Times innumerable he finished the season far behind in a financial way. Once or twice, over that long sweep of years, Ebbets's ball club made money for him—but the sum was trifling. The Brooklyn was proverbial tail-enders.
With his genius and his energy, Ebbets might have gone into another business and made a huge fortune. But he stuck to baseball. He loved the game as a sport and to combine his pleasure and his business all in one enterprise was an ideal arrangement for him.
Waits 30 Years.
Patiently, hopefully, Ebbets waited through the years for a turn in the tide of fortune—for a bit of luck that went to other magnates but always seemed to pass him by.
But the same refused to smile upon the owner of the Brooklyn Dodgers; instead of bettering, conditions became worse.
"The darkest hour is just before dawn," goes an old saying, and it never was truer than in the case of Ebbets. Just a trifle more than a year ago he was in financial straits; in such a plight that it was reported on several occasions that he would have to sell his club to satisfy creditors. How true these reports were, we cannot say with authority. But it cannot be denied that when the 1915 season began, Ebbets' wallet was so thin that it hardly could be noticed.
The outlook for 1915 was drearier than any other in the long history of the veteran magnate. His team didn't size up at the outset as a pennant possibility. Patronage in the Dodger park promised to be the smallest in many years. First, because the fans seemed to have lost interest in the game, second because the Dodgers' record figured as a drawing card, and third, the Feds were entrenched in Brooklyn and were making a fight for popular favor.
"And right at that time," Ebbets told us, "I was assuming the burden of the biggest payroll I was ever called upon to meet. Practically every man on my roster was drawing from $1,000 to $4,500 more than in other years. The Federal League wanted my stars—and so did I. That meant I had to outbid them, and I assure you, those fellows certainly did 'boost their skirts.' But I met them. I didn't let one of my good players get away."
Ebbets' team, however, was not so fortunate. The clouds rolled back and the sun began to shine through upon Ebbets. His team, to the surprise of the league, showed unexpected strength. It jumped away from the April barrier at a smashing clip and—on and on it went. Brooklyn fans, accustomed to seeking a sixth, seventh or eighth place club, woke up to the novelty of the situation—a Dodger club in a pennant fight.
The fans came out—in droves. The turnstiles clicked and clicked and continued clicking. The Dodgers, contrary to predictions, didn't skid in June. They lingered among the leaders right into the October stretch. Not until then were they really beaten in the bunting race.
And the shekels poured in upon Ebbets as they will do upon any magnate whose club is in the race. Ebbets, who had feared another huge financial setback when the season began found at the end that not only had he cleared all expenses but that his books showed a neat profit. The Dodgers were one of the few clubs in the big leagues last season that cleared expenses.
Ebbets Coffers Filling.
Dame Fortune continues to smile upon Ebbets. Probably she figures that the veteran deserves a little reward at least for his 30 years of patience. The Dodgers as you probably have noticed, are in the thickest part of the 1916 pennant fracas. They have outdrawn other clubs on the road and they are averaging close to 10,000 a day at home, breaking the usual 7,000 Saturday crowd.
Huge as was the Dodger home attendance last year, that of 1916 will go far beyond it. The Brooklynites during the first three months have played to almost as many folks as they did during the entire home attendance for 1915. At home and on the road they already have drawn almost three times as many fans as they did in the entire six months during the lean years.
If the Dodgers dropped out of the pennant fight right now, and didn't draw more than a few hundred fans per day for the rest of the season, Ebbets would finish ahead in a financial way, anyhow.
But over in Brooklyn they insist that you perish the thought of the Dodgers doing anything else than top the race. The natives figure it is an absolute cinch. And already the bucciers of the press are sending in 150 applications for world series tickets. Whereupon, Charles Hercules Ebbets smiles, and murmurs:
"There's my certainty, boys."

THE TURKISH CIGARETTE

REMEMBER—

Turkish Tobacco is the world's most famous tobacco for cigarettes.

Murad is made of 17 varieties of pure Turkish tobaccos.

That is why Murad is the world's most famous cigarette.
